SOUTH AFRICA FLAG DISPUTE COMES TO END

Compromise Arrived At—Union of South Africa to Have Imperial and National Emblems

TWO FLAGS TO BE FLOWN TOGETHER

Text of Agreement Published—South African Party Caucus Approves of Concessions Made

CAPETOWN, S.A., Oct. 25.—(C.P. Cable, via Reuters.)—According to the final draft of the agreement between the Government of the South African Union and the Opposition, led by General J. G. Smuts, to settle the national flag controversy, the Union Jack will be flown with the new national flag over Houses of Parliament in the Union and from Union Government offices abroad; as well as from South African Union ships on the high seas, unless and until an Imperial conference decides otherwise regarding a marine flag for the Union.

TEXT OF AGREEMENT

The text of the agreement dealing with the use that is to be made of the flags follows:

"The flags of the Union shall be: (1) the Union Jack to denote the association of the Union with the group of nations constituting the British Commonwealth of Nations; (2) the national flag, the design of which is set out in section 8 of the flag bill.

"The Union Jack shall be flown with the national flag from the Houses of Parliament and from the Government offices abroad and such other places in the Union as the Government may decide. The Governor-General may by regulation fix the form in which the flag may be flown on the ships on the high seas or for special purposes and occasions."

The last sentence in Clause 2 means that the Union Jack will continue to be flown on ships until the decision of an Imperial Conference rules to the contrary. The final settlement was reached on the definite understanding that as regards towns other than the capital mentioned above there will be no sudden change from the existing conditions. This means that the Union Jack will continue to be flown in such towns as Johannesburg, Kimberley and Grahamstown as at present.

COMPROMISE SETTLEMENT

The great bulk of the public as yet hardly realizes the significance of the settlement, but all in close touch with Parliament pay warm tributes to the statesmanship of Premier J. B. M. Hertzog, Gen. J. G. Smuts, leader of the Opposition, and Hon. Theunis Steyn, Minister of Justice in the Hertzog Government, who steered their way to an agreement through the greatest difficulties. This is especially true of General Smuts, who naturally had to take the initiative throughout, and carry his party with him in making great concessions. The most critical time was the meeting of the South African Party caucus, at which unanimity was gained eventually among the

JUDGE REPEATS COURT CENSURE

Mr. Justice Martin in Nine-Page Judgment Repeats Criticism Complained of by Supreme Court

FURTHER REMARKS ARE ADDED ALSO

VANCOUVER, Oct. 25.—Following the recent attack by the Supreme Court of British Columbia on the British Columbia Court of Appeal, Mr. Justice Martin, of the latter tribunal, in a considered judgment, has reiterated the comments which evoked the protest voiced by Chief Justice Gordon Hunter.

"In the case at bar, I think it unnecessary to say more than that, while I say no more than that, my clear duty to the public (for the protection of which, be it remembered, Courts of Appeal are established) constrains me to say no less," he added.

"LIKE ENGLAND IN 1722. "My long judicial experience has taught me that in this province there is today as much necessity to afford the public relief by appeals as there was in England in 1722," said His Lordship in conclusion.

The case concerned custody of three children of Edward M. McCabe, of Victoria. Mr. Justice Martin, of the Supreme Court, awarded custody of two daughters to distant relatives of the deceased mother, and custody of the son to an

PAPER SUPPLY MAY RUN SHORT

CANADIAN DELEGATE TO THE WORLD'S PRESS CONFERENCE MAKES REPORT

Newspaper Shortage May Be Problem of Near Future—May Have Smaller Journals

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—Guests at a joint luncheon given by the directors of the Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association, Hon. Frank Carroll, of the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph, gave an address on the work of the conference of press experts held in Geneva under the auspices of the League of Nations last August, when he was official Canadian delegate. Mr. Carroll made a moving appeal on behalf of the League of Nations, which he described as carrying on a modestly a work of incalculable benefit to the world, for if peace were to be assured, it would be due to the international understanding and interchange of views brought about by the League.

Urging upon the two associations the importance of taking a deep interest in the present and future work of the world press conference, Mr. Carroll said in part:

"While many of the subjects may be more vitally interesting to the European or the Asiatic press, we will find an indirect profit in them. Here in North America we will have our world problems to settle in the near future, and the supply of newsprint will be one of them. In this respect we shall be more than benefited in having the assistance or co-operation of such a powerful body. Today we have a surplus of newsprint, but what of tomorrow? Probably a general reduction in the size of our papers, much as the nations are today settling upon a reduction of armaments, may suggest a partial solution."

YOUNG MAN'S LIFE SAVED BY MIRACLE

Carl Bailey Lost While Hunting in Wilderness Between Norway House and Hudson Bay

FIFTEEN DAYS WITHOUT FOOD

Matches and Ammunition Gone, Left Side Paralyzed, He Gives Up Hope—Found by Search Party

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—Suffering from partial paralysis, without food, matches or ammunition, and having given up all hope of rescue, Carl Bailey, twenty-seven, trader at Norway House, Manitoba, was rescued today after having been lost in the wilderness of the North Country since September 13.

A wireless message received from Norway House, Hudson's Bay post, 200 miles north of Winnipeg, tonight gave meagre details of the rescue.

For fifteen days the young trader was without food, his left side had become paralyzed and he was awaiting death, despairing of rescue after so many days of privations, when a search party discovered him this afternoon.

ISLAND LABYRINTH

While on a hunting expedition in the Sucoer Lake district, 200 miles northwest of Norway House, Bailey and his Indian guide became separated on one of the heavily-wooded islands which dot the lake. For three days the Indian searched for his companion, failing to find trace of the trader, the guide made a hard journey over wilderness trails and by canoe to Norway House.

A search party was immediately organized and assistance of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sought.

PHILIPPINE GOVERNOR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A successor to Major-General Leonard Wood as Governor-General of the Philippines is understood to have been definitely decided upon by President Coolidge, but who the man will be has not yet been disclosed. Those who are most prominently mentioned for the post are Governor Parrington, of Hawaii, former Senator Wadsworth, of New York, Major-General McCoy, recently appointed supervisor of the Nicaragua elections, and Mr. Henry L. Stimson, the President's special envoy in the Nicaraguan peace negotiations.

Crusade Against Slavery Needed, Says Lady Simon

HULL, Eng., Oct. 25.—The spirit of John Wilberforce, Britain's anti-slavery leader of a century and more ago, was reawakened tonight in an anti-slavery demonstration in the City of Wilberforce. Hull is sometimes called, where the philanthropist was born and was long active.

"Our ideal is the total abolition of slavery in all its forms in this generation," declared Lady Simon, wife of Sir John Simon, who played a prominent part in the recent liberation of the slaves of Sierra Leone, who was one of the speakers tonight. "In China there are at least 2,000,000 slaves and there are 2,000,000 more in Abyssinia, where conditions are terrible."

"The Abyssinian supply is kept up by slave raiders who ship unhappy people torn from their homes long distances into lifelong bondage."

PROPAGANDA IS AGAIN CRITICIZED

Mr. R. H. Pooley Deals With Palmer Contracts—Mr. Twigg Refers to "Magic Lantern" Show

"I AM often amazed at the amount of political acumen that is shown in the open range, but has never been branded," said Hon. S. F. Tolmie, at Esquimalt last evening at the annual meeting of the Conservative Association. He went on to say that if the critics on the outside had seen the inside in the opposition benches, things would often look very much different to them.

Before the meeting closed a resolution was passed by standing vote setting out that the duty of the Conservative Association is to defend the leader, Dr. Tolmie. This resolution, proposed by Captain J. Cox, and seconded by Mr. S. R. Bowden, read as follows:

"That the Conservatives of Esquimalt take the opportunity presented at this meeting of reiterating their unswerving confidence in their leader, Dr. Tolmie, and of tendering to him this expression of their united and continued support."

FUNCTION OF GOVERNMENT

Dr. Tolmie, in his address before the gathering of the Conservatives, pointed out that the duty of the Government of the country was to carry on the affairs of the country in the most efficient manner, and that a way that a dollar's value was obtained for every dollar that was expended. The duty of the opposition was to criticize every act of the Government where it was deemed that there was ground for criticism.

EVIDENCE ENDS IN PARIS TRIAL

Defence Decides Not to Call Witnesses—Trial of Assassin of General Petlura

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The trial of Samuel Schwartzbard, Hebrew clock-maker, for the murder of General Simon Petlura, may reach a verdict tomorrow evening. The sensational case, which was expected to continue for at least another fortnight, was cut short this evening by the decision of Henri Torres, of defence counsel, concurred in by Cesar Campinchi, attorney for the Petlura family, to forego the testimony of additional witnesses.

After another day of interminable orations and heated squabbles over technicalities, the picturesque defence counsel arose suddenly and faced Chief Justice Fory.

NO DEFENCE WITNESSES

"For seven days," he boomed in a sonorous voice, "witnesses for the prosecution have been heard. By an extraordinary accident, those who appeared in the last two days have been extremely favorable to the defence. I had cited eighty-two witnesses, among whom were fifteen soldiers who could testify as to Schwartzbard's bravery at the French front during the world war. 'Well, I will give up these witnesses. I believe the jury has already made up its mind. I am ready for summation.'"

Campinchi announced complete accord with his opponent.

TRIAL BEGINS OF INDIANS

Counsel Says Leach's Dog Disappeared on Day of the Alleged Murder Off Tofino

RIFLE MISSING, ALSO SHOTGUN

NANAIMO, Oct. 25.—The trial of Edward Leach, a member of the West Coast, charged with the murder of Edward Kinley Leach at Tofino, on the day of the alleged murder, began this morning in the local Assize Court this afternoon before Mr. Justice Murphy. At the opening of the case, Mr. H. Maclean, K.C., for the Crown, outlined the Crown's case to the jury.

DETAILS OF TRAGEDY

He stated that on August 30 last Edward Leach's boat was found on a spit of land off Tofino. Leach was a Government fishery guard. On the following morning a woman who was camping at Tofino saw Leach's boat lying on the spit. Mrs. Leach, the wife of the man who was charged with the murder, had been seen by her on the spit, and had taken a knife through one of the open windows had seen Leach lying face down on the spit. She had called to him, and had then touched him with her hair, finding that he was dead. There was some water in the boat, but it did not come from the body. When, later, the body was examined it was found that Leach had sustained two wounds, one over the left eye and one at the back of the head. The wound over the eye had evidently been made with some blunt instrument, and the eye itself was injured. The skull injury was made apparently by another instrument not so blunt.

DOG DISAPPEARS

It was found that Leach's dog had disappeared, and although a careful search had been made the dog had never been seen since. On the afternoon of the 27th Leach had a rifle and shotgun which have both disappeared. On the afternoon of the 29th Leach had bought a box of shells for the rifle, and these, too, have disappeared. At the inquest, held subsequent to the finding of the body, medical men were puzzled to account for death, as the wounds were not sufficiently serious to have been the cause.

DEATH BY SUFFOCATION

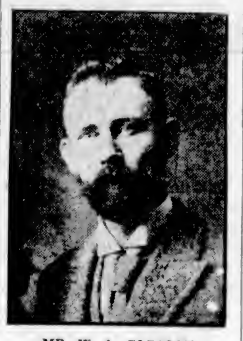

Later, Dr. A. D. Morgan, of Alberni, had performed a post mortem and found that death had been caused by suffocation. The man had been drowned in a small quantity of water. Having received wounds in the head, evidence showed that a terrible struggle had taken place. That he had died under great exertion was shown by the fact that the heart was empty of blood, which had been pumped out during his struggles. Mr. Maclean then outlined the evidence of persons in the neighborhood of where Leach's body was found, and the arrest of the accused. Evidence will be taken at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. There are twenty-six witnesses to be heard.

CONTRACTOR AGAIN VISITS FORMER HOME

Mr. W. A. Gleason Was Prominent Figure in the Municipal Life of Victoria for Several Years

GOES TO POST NEAR YOKOHAMA

Has Been Engaged in Construction Work Since He Left Here Thirteen Years Ago

MR. W. A. GLEASON

AFTER an absence from Victoria for a number of years, Mr. W. A. Gleason, former alderman, arrived here yesterday with Mr. Gleason, en route to the Orient. They left on the President Lincoln, limited time preventing Mr. Gleason from renewing acquaintance with the wide circle of friends he has here.

In the course of a chat with The Colonist, it developed that as superintendent of construction he is going out to Japan to take charge of the H. K. Ferguson interests in a plant in the neighborhood of Yokohama, to be built for the Port Motor Company. The work will occupy upwards of two years or more, and a number of American experts have already left for the work by an earlier steamer.

Mr. Gleason, after he left Victoria in the year of the outbreak of the war, went to the Old Country where he was engaged in war activities, and later came out to the United States. For five years he was with the Ferguson firm, engaged in the construction of large buildings in half-a-dozen States, his latest association being with Cleveland.

Mr. Gleason, who was engaged as a contractor here, was a member of the council in 1907 and 1908, and again from 1911 to 1913, inclusive. In 1914 he was an unsuccessful candidate for the Mayoralty, shortly before he left the city.

GENERAL SUTTON MEETS PREMIER

MR. BROWNLEE GIVES NON-COMMITTAL ANSWER TO RAILWAY PROPOSAL

Government Prepared to Consider Any Practicable Proposition, He Is Informed

EDMONTON, Oct. 25.—Carrying his Peace River Railway campaign one step nearer the front lines, General F. A. Sutton visited upon Premier Brownlee this morning and asked for the approval of the Provincial Government.

What he sought from that quarter was the consent of the Government to a request for land grants from the Dominion authorities by means of which the construction of some 150 miles of railroad in Alberta to connect with the F. & B. C. line west of the Pacific Great Eastern in British Columbia, might be financed.

Twenty thousand acres per mile was indicated by General Sutton as the area of land he would require, his acreage to be selected from lands adjacent to the proposed railroad. He represented his plans for a Peace River-Pacific outlet as now in process of shaping up, and the co-operation of the Alberta Government to the extent of approving the land grant is the next move he finds it necessary to make.

Premier Brownlee's answer was that the Government is prepared to consider any practicable proposition for solving the northern transportation problem, but that no definite attitude could be taken or stated until consideration had been given the matter. To that end General Sutton is to prepare and submit a written statement of his proposed scheme, embodying the land grant item.

Luxurious Italian Liner Bound for Argentina Founders in South Atlantic—Frantic Wireless Calls for Aid Bring Steamships in Time to Save Hundreds

Many Passengers Taken From Water; More Than 800 Not Accounted For

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 25.—The Principessa Mafalda, luxurious Italian liner en route from Genoa to this port and Buenos Aires, foundered and sank tonight about 130 miles southeast of the Port of Bahia, Brazil, presumably with a large loss of life. The liner carried 1,600 passengers, many of them emigrants to Argentina. While hundreds were rescued by the heroic efforts of the crews of four ships which answered the Mafalda's frantic wireless calls for aid, it is believed that many of the steerage passengers went down with the ship.

RUMANIA NEAR GRAVE CRISIS

Martial Law Proclaimed by Government on Ground of Plot—Opposition Groups Send Rallying Call

EX-CROWN PRINCE IN STAGE CENTRE

BUCHAREST, Oct. 25.—Rumania is seething with political excitement. Former Crown Prince Carol is the central figure in the struggle which is already being waged for political control.

Just as the sixth birthday of King Michael is being celebrated, an alleged plot has been disclosed to establish the exiled Carol on the throne of his father, the late King Ferdinand. Martial law has been declared and the Government and Opposition parties are lining up to what promises to be a bitter contest for control.

M. Manolescu, Under-Secretary of Finance in the late Averescu Cabinet, has been arrested and placed in the state prison at Jilava. He is charged with being a member of the plot for the re-establishment of the former Crown Prince. He will be court-martialed, it is reported, within a few days, and former Premier General Averescu will defend him before the military court against accusations, which are certain to be made, of high treason.

LETTERS FROM CAROL. Among the alleged compromising letters found in the possession of Manolescu were several from Carol, who is residing at present in a suburb of Paris.

It appears that Carol wanted a referendum of the people of Rumania as to their wishes regarding his return. Other letters dealt with the question of the dynasty.

Years ago she was the fastest liner plying between Italy and South America.

IRAQ MANDATE UNDER REVIEW

KINGDOM SAID TO WISH TO BE ADMITTED TO MEMBERSHIP IN LEAGUE

GENEVA, Oct. 25.—The possibility that the League of Nations mandate commission which began sittings yesterday may adjourn to meet in London, has caused reports here that Iraq, like Egypt, may ask to be admitted to the League membership. A mandate over Iraq is one of the subjects under discussion.

The reason assigned for a possible adjournment to London is the impossibility of Sir Frederick Lugard, the British member of the commission, to come to Geneva because of the illness of Lady Lugard.

As King Feisal of Iraq is now in London for the discussion of a treaty of alliance between Great Britain and Iraq, it is believed that the political status of Iraq may be reopened.

THE SECOND FLAG
The domestic flag, designed by T. Rooze, Minister of Justice in the Hertzog Nationalist Government, will remain as at present, namely, three horizontal stripes, orange, white and blue, with the Union Jack and Transvaal Vierkleur horizontally in the white stripes and the Orange Free State flag between them. This gives the Union Jack one twenty-seventh of the new flag's space.

The controversy over the flag question, which has been raging for more than a year and threatened to cause a political upheaval, has practically been settled by a compromise between the Government forces led by Premier Hertzog, who wanted a national flag, and the followers of General Jan Christiaan Smuts, who stood for the Union Jack.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 25.—One of the largest seizures of opium ever made in the United States, said to have a resale value of $250,000, was made in Isle la Motte today by Federal narcotic agents, who had posed prospective purchasers of 750 pounds of the drug. They arrested Mouvet, proprietor of the Hotel Madeleine, Paris, France, and father of the late Maurice, the dancer. With him was arrested John Wilson, of Colebrook, N.S., a chauffeur, who had driven across the border from Canada in the automobile containing the opium. They will be arraigned here tomorrow.

TRAIL LEADS TO PERSIA

The agents told of months of work on the case, with the trail leading to Canada, France and Persia. To Mouvet's hotel, so his own account runs, came one day a wealthy man whose name is withheld by the authorities. This man had a scheme for making huge profits by buying opium in Persia, shipping it into the United States, and selling it to the United States.

Mouvet put 375,000 francs into the venture, on the assurance that two Canadians were each contributing an equal sum. The captain of a French cargo steamer agreed to buy the opium in Persia and bring it across the Atlantic. Mouvet came over and, in the fishing vessel and taken to a little island in the mouth of the St. Lawrence. They were sent to Montreal later and hidden in a garage.

TO FIND PURCHASERS

Mouvet went to New York to find purchasers. He found them, but he did not know that they were Cole Manning and other Federal narcotic agents. Manning and his assistant, Salvatore Plesetti, agreed to buy the 750 pounds of opium for $50 a pound. It was agreed that it should be a cash transaction. Last night the agents went to the La Motte and early this morning Mouvet and Wilson brought the opium across the border. No sooner were they on this side of the line than they were arrested.

REAFFIRMS

to such an act as was practised by the Premier of this province in this regard, in putting an obstacle in the way of some Conservative Federal leaders attending the National Conservative convention.

The Attorney-General of the province had said that he (Dr. Tolmie) had been profligate in his promises in the by-election.

"I could not be a profligate as the members of the Government in any event," said Dr. Tolmie. He went on to tell of the promises that were made by all kinds of people acting on behalf of the Government in the by-election there.

Dr. Tolmie said that he felt that Nelson was entitled to a bridge and had so stated. There were many reasons why this should be built. It would, among other things, serve the country that was separated from the city, and which in the winter months was isolated and cut off from medical attendance in some cases. There were two bridges at Kamloops, and he could not see why Nelson should not have the bridge.

The Liberals had assured them of the bridge, but it was expected by the Minister of Public Works that this would have to be postponed until the Kuskonkook road was completed, and this would be a delay of about two years. The Premier of the province had come to the scene, and given the assurance that that bridge would be started at once.

OVEREXPENDITURES

In attacking the overexpenditures, as compared with the estimates made on public works, Dr. Tolmie said that it was true that there might be at times an overexpenditure in connection with some work. He was not unreasonable enough to argue that for good reason such a thing might not occur at times.

"But this Government never makes the mistake of keeping within the estimate," added the leader of the Conservatives.

The leader took to task the representations that were made by the members of the Government during the development of the country, and ascribing the credit of all this to the Government. How could the Government take the credit for development of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, for instance? That would have taken place whether the Government were in power or in opposition.

The same was true with respect to the development of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company. Was it any act of the Liberal Government that brought about the development of that company? It was not the finding of the rich ore in the Sullivan and other mines, and the ability shown by the company in the development of the treatment of them that had brought about expansion?

Hon. T. D. Pattullo had taken credit for the development along the line of the pulp industry. The only proposition that he had made to do with appeared to be the mill at Prince George. On this he had worked for some five years, and there had been nothing accomplished yet in the matter. All the other pulp mills in the province had been brought into operation before this Government came into power.

The other side was referring to the offers that had been alleged to have been made to him as leader of the opposition to contest a seat and enter the Provincial Parliament. There had not been so many offers after all, said Dr. Tolmie.

OFFERS OF SEATS

In the case of North Vancouver, where an offer was made, he had not accepted, and he felt that it was wise not to do so, in view of the fact that there was a district there that would be better served by a resident of the district who understood the needs of the district.

Gartshore, who succeeded John McClary as president of the McClary Manufacturing Company, one of the largest of the firms merged.

As far as taking the advice of the Liberal party he could not say. He was not asking for it. He would be guided by his own judgment in these matters.

In concluding Dr. Tolmie paid a compliment to the ability of Mr. B. Bennett, who had been selected to lead the Conservative party in the coming election. He felt that as a result of the Winnipeg convention there was a new era dawning for the party in the Dominion.

THE NELSON BY-ELECTION

Mr. R. H. Pooley said that he was willing to allow the Liberals all the consolation that they could get out of the Nelson election. The majority in the former by-election had been 338 in the last one it was only twenty-eight, and there were 500 more votes cast in the last election.

He recalled the attempt that was made, evidently at the instigation of the Attorney-General, to have the statements of himself contradicted by Mr. Palmer, the contractor on the road work, with respect to the conduct of those contracts. The result had been that Mr. Palmer on the platform had been forced to admit that the statements made by himself had been correct; that there had been $900,000 spent on the twenty-one and a half miles when the estimates were only $300,000; that in spite of the agreement that there would be no subletting, every bit of the work was sublet; that the contractor got $2 a yard for rock, and the workers were only allowed 80 cents a yard. The Conservative party could settle its own differences without the aid of the Liberals or of the Times, he asserted.

Mr. Pooley dealt with some of the exposures that had been made with respect to the conduct of public affairs by the Liberal Government.

Mr. H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., ridiculed some of the information that was given in the Attorney-General's last year's campaign. He said that he was not sure why Mr. Manson should take credit to the Liberal Government for the increase in the school children of the province. He said that he also argued that it was not reasonable for the government to represent that the government of the day had been successful in the by-election with which money was obtained in 1926, as compared with 1916. In the latter year there were war conditions.

At the present time the system, as a result of the war, was that bond buying by private parties had been introduced into the sale of bonds, and was made so much easier.

Mr. Twigg contradicted the representations made that the Liberal

CIVILIZED LIVING HABITS CAUSE DISEASE

If savages are not diseased and civilized peoples are diseased, and if savages become diseased when they eat civilized peoples' foods, then it is evident that civilized peoples' foods cause disease.

Dr. Jackson G. Jackson in his 428-page book, "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL" (for which an offer of $50,000 is made for U.S. publishing rights), convincingly shows what these wrong food and other wrong living habits are that cause civilized peoples' diseases and premature deaths, also how to eliminate or compensate these habits and still live in civilization as disease-free as are the savage races. The system and the foods which Dr. Jackson advocates brought him to a state of 100% physical perfect, absolutely free from and immune to disease for many years past, and after he had been given up to die by the great Dr. Sir Wm. Osler, 18 years ago. He has not even had a cold since 1913. His book shows how he got well by changing his living habits.

Dr. Jackson's own standard of a perfect food is Roman Meal, which he invented when his death sentence was pronounced. Upon this food, milk and fruits he lived for two whole years, at which time he was well made so by the normalizing effects of these entirely natural, non-acid-forming foods. Now, 18 years later, he is 100% perfect physically, and younger in all but years lived than most men at 35, and Roman Meal is still his chief food. Write for his 16-page free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," to Roman Meal Co., Ltd., 315 Vine Ave., Toronto, Ont. Ask your baker for Roman Meal bread and muffins.

Doubtless Roman Meal is unequalled as a normalizing food. Dr. Jackson is a food scientist, diet lecturer on dietetics in a large medical school, adviser to the Diet League, a physicians' and dentists' association. He has had a long clinical experience and has had a long experience in dieting for better health. Roman Meal is founded upon this training and experience. Think of it, if you could devote as good a food as Roman Meal as good a food? If not, is it likely any other layman could? Of course not. Then why listen when laymen tell you they have devised a good or a better food? For there is no food equal in body-building properties to Roman Meal. (Advt.)

FAILURE HELD

George Speaks in Vancouver on Disarmament Meeting

VANCOUVER, Oct. 25.—If the character of the delegates of both Great Britain and the United States had been moulded more after the pattern of statesmen and less after the design of naval experts, agreement could very probably have been reached at the recent Geneva Conference for reduction of naval armaments, declared Philip Kerr, of London, England, addressing the luncheon meeting of the Vancouver Canadian Club at noon today. Mr. Kerr, one of the founders of the Round Table publication, is touring Canada and the United States in the interests of the Rhodes Scholarship Trust. During the war he was in a position close to the heart of British diplomatic policy and for five years acted as secretary to the war-time Premier, Lloyd George.

THE DANGER

"It would be quite possible to present arguments one hundred per cent plausible supporting both the British and United States viewpoints," said Mr. Kerr. "There were two distinct national views developed at the conference, and each had merit. The danger that has arisen since the meeting lies in the ideas which have been circulated among the general public of the two nations; British people have the opinion that the United States is seeking naval supremacy, while in the United States the conviction is held that Britain does not favor extension of naval parity to the republic. Both ideas are founded on misunderstanding."

FOX SHOW WILL

the opening of the show and judging will commence at 11 o'clock in the morning on Thursday.

The Weiler Building, at the corner of Douglas and Humboldt Streets, has been decorated inside with flags interspersing the long rows of pens housing the valuable quadrupeds. Rev. M. W. J. Bruce, manager of the show; Mr. D. M. McDonald, superintendent; Mr. W. Miller Higgs, assistant superintendent, and Mr. N. A. Moore, secretary-treasurer, have spared no effort to make the fox show the finest ever held in the province.

FROM PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Eighteen picked foxes will represent the best fox farms of Prince Edward Island, six from the ranch of Mr. W. E. McNeill, of Kings County; a young fox from the Highland farm of Charlottetown, and six from Mr. Rogers' establishment at Summerside. Dr. Winchester, of Nampa, Idaho, has brought up four of his finest animals, and Mr. C. I. Hanson, of Aberdeen, Wash., is here with three. Mr. Hanson bought two pairs of foxes from the Gilt Edge Silver Fox Co. Ltd. of Victoria, last year and now has twelve silver-black beauties. Mr. S. D. Palmer, also of Aberdeen, is another successful fox raiser, with entries in the show who bought his original stock from Vancouver Island farms.

Mr. W. J. Denny, of South Vancouver, arrived yesterday with six potential prize winners, while Mr. F. H. Stephenson, of Courtenay, who was awarded a championship trophy for the best adult female fox last year, is back again and expects to repeat his victory. The Malahat Fox Farm and the Gilt Edge Fox Farm, who have both had winning foxes for prize last two years, have a number of entries this year. Rev. M. W. J. Bruce, of the Cymry Silver Black Fox Ranch, near Saanichton, and Lady Emily Walker, of East Sooke, have entered a number of foxes.

Other entrants include Capt. Ian McKenzie, Duncan; Mr. M. P. Hixson, Extension; Mr. J. H. Hird, Tumblo Island; Mr. W. Miller Higgs, Galiano Island; A. Hanson, H. D. Reid, W. E. Salter, J. H. Hiddell, Lady Smith, A. H. Icke, Mr. Haywood, H. W. Naylor, J. Surrey, H. F. Dack, Mrs. Col. A. D. Rankin, J. H. Carver & Sons, E. W. Hanbury, Miss L. Stephenson, Miss H. Kelly, G. McKenzie, D. W. Crother, Shepherd, Alta, and A. A. Johnson, Regina, Sask.

The Millstream Rabbitry, at Cobble Hill, the largest commercial rabbitry on the island, managed by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. de Lure, has a fine fur display. Other entrants in the rabbit class include Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Schorts and Mrs. French, who have displays of dressed furs and live rabbits. Judging will be held at 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. D. M. McDonald, superintendent of the Fox and Fur Fair, mentioned yesterday that this is the sixth show that he has been connected with and that he had not seen a better collection of foxes than at present gathered in the Weiler Building.

More than thirty telegrams from all parts of Canada and the United States have been received, wishing the show every success. Two of the telegrams authorized the purchasing of trophies to add to the splendid list at present offered.

Word was received from a lady fox breeder from Prince Edward Island that she would arrive today with some of her prize stock. Judges of the foxes will be Mr. Gordon, of the Hudson's Bay fur department, and Mr. Olaf E. Larson, of Black Falls, Alta. The judges

Gas in the Stomach
Is Truly Dangerous

Gastric Pain, bloating and a feeling of fullness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

This excess acid irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic gastritis and dangerous ulcers. Food ferments and rots, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the heart.

It is essential fully to neutralize such a condition with a British scientific stomachic acid that cannot neutralize the stomachic acid. A better way is to eat from your digestive system. Bismarck's (powder or tablets) and take a little after each meal. Bismarck's is a simple and safe stomachic acid neutralizer and antacid can be depended upon to prevent its value in less than five minutes. In most instances, relief comes instantly. Pleasant and perfectly harmless. Do not be deceived. Bismarck's does give wonderful relief in cases of indigestion. Ask your Dealer or Druggist.

DEATH NOT NEEDED TO END SUFFERINGS

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—The greater section of medical opinion in the capital applauded the acquittal at Chester, England, of a young widow who drowned her three-year-old daughter, but many doctors believed a more humane way might have been found to terminate the child's suffering from incurable diseases. Dr. J. E. Craig, whose expression on the case was in the main similar to that of other M.D.'s, said: "It is not right according to our present rules of morality. It is usual in such cases to relieve the pain. I would not have a thing like that hanging on my conscience. He was wrong according to all rules of ethics and morality, for he took the wrong way to relieve her sufferings."

Opium could have been used to better effect, it was said. They would have kept the child free from pain until the inevitable end came, was the general claim.

EDUCATION IN B.C. OUTLINED

Dr. S. J. Willis, Provincial Superintendent, Tells Victoria Kiwanis Club of Department's Activities

DEVELOPMENT OF PROGRESS TRACED

A comprehensive outline of the activities of the Department of Education in British Columbia was given to the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium yesterday by Dr. Samuel L. Willis, provincial superintendent of Education and a past president of the Victoria Kiwanis organization.

Discussing the development of the normal schools, where teachers for elementary classes are trained, Dr. Willis pointed out that the first normal school opened in the province was at Vancouver, in 1901, and that today there are eleven instructors and 250 teachers in training there. Fifteen years after the opening of the Vancouver school, a normal school was started in Victoria, and today there are seven instructors and 150 teachers in training. The qualification of teachers was described by Dr. Willis to the gathering.

INSPECTION DUTIES

The speaker spoke of the department of inspection, asserting that there were in British Columbia two high school inspectors and fifteen elementary school inspectors. The inspectors, he said, were required to help in such assistance to the new teachers as possible. School inspectors must have been high school principals, also university graduates, and must keep themselves familiar with the latest ideas in teaching methods.

School inspectors and teachers at the normal schools were given opportunity to attend centres of advanced learning in order to keep themselves up to date, Dr. Willis observed.

Dr. Willis declared that the Department of Education in British Columbia now administered $250,000 per year. The general office expenses of the department totalled $28,000, the normal schools cost $30,000, the normal schools required $67,000, and free text book branch expense reached the figure of $85,000 per year.

DEAF AND BLIND

The province maintains a school for the deaf and blind at an annual cost of $27,000, the speaker said. Sixty-four deaf and seventeen blind children were receiving instruction there, and the results obtained were considered satisfactory. All the deaf boys are taught manual training, while the girls are instructed in dressmaking, nursing and domestic science, and all graduates are fully employed.

The speaker sketched the early history of education in British Columbia, stating that the first school was opened in 1849 in Victoria by the Hudson's Bay Company, on the corner of Fort and Government Streets, the site now occupied by the Canadian Bank of Commerce. He told of the inauguration of a number of schools in 1849, among these being the Craigflower School, now the sole survivor of these early structures. He referred to the changes in the administration of the educational system, declaring that the department in its present form, a separate department with its own Minister of Education, was instituted in the year 1920.

EASTERN CLUBMEN SEND GREETINGS

Mr. James McMillan, President of Montreal Kiwanis Body, Is Warmly Welcomed Here

Greetings and best wishes were extended to the Victoria Kiwanis Club yesterday from the Kiwanis Club of Montreal by Mr. John McMillan, president of the Montreal organization, who spoke briefly at the local Kiwanis luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. Mr. McMillan, after lauding the Victoria Kiwanians upon the fine community service they had rendered, touched on the activities of the Montreal Club and said that recently the Montrealers had had the pleasure of entertaining International President Heinz, International Secretary Parker, and a number of international Kiwanis leaders.

"Best wishes, and I hope all of you will meet with us in Montreal when you are in the East," concluded Mr. McMillan, amid applause.

Vice-president C. Elwood Watkins, who officiated as chairman, requested Mr. McMillan to convey to the Montreal Club the greetings of the Victoria Kiwanians. The chairman stated that the Victoria Press Club was holding a grand Halloween ball and Autumn revel on Friday night next, October 28, in the Empress Hotel, commencing at 9 o'clock, at which novelties and competitions will be feature events of the function.

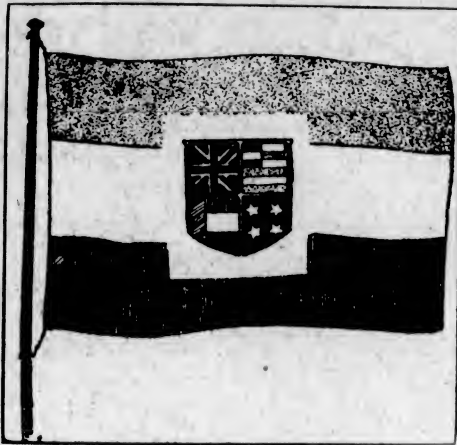

The Kiwanians observed "Apple Week" yesterday, and the fine specimens of apples on the tables were donated by the Department of Horticulture, of the Provincial Government.

Master George Tait, fourteen-year-old violinist, who won a gold medal at the musical festival in the Spring, delighted the clubmen with several violin selections. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Burdon Murphy.

Hills Reconciled

LIVINGSTON, Mont., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Walter Hill, former Pollie girl, and her husband, son of the railway magnate, today occupied the Hill suite in a Livingston hotel after ten days of misunderstanding which culminated in a court action instituted by Mrs. Hill for separate maintenance. A series of conferences yesterday culminated in a reconciliation which apparently resulted in a complete understanding.

Cause of S.A. Controversy

AN agreement has been reached in South Africa between the opposing parties on the flag question. Both the Union Jack and the proposed South African flag are to be flown—one as representing the Empire, and the other as representing the Union of South Africa. Above is a drawing of the latest flag design, as near to the original as possible from details available. There is some doubt as to whether the shield emblazoned on the middle (white) stripe is confined to that field or whether its panel runs into the blue below and the orange above. The shield is quartered with the Union Jack in the top left-hand corner beside the Orange Free State flag, while below (left) is the Transvaal Vrijheid and (right) four stars on a blue field representing the four provinces. The main horizontal stripes are: Top, orange; middle, white; bottom, blue.

Four Ministers Will Speak Here To City Liberals

Four of the provincial ministers have promised to attend the annual meeting of the Victoria Liberal Association, to be held this evening at the Sons of Canada Hall, View Street.

The business meeting is set for 8 o'clock, when officers will be elected. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. A. M. Manson, Hon. T. D. Piddell, Hon. Dr. Sutherland, and Hon. E. D. Barrow.

Real Estate Board

The Real Estate Board of Victoria will hold its regular fortnightly luncheon today at 12:30 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce Cafe. The agenda for consideration will be as follows: (1), recommendations of executive re-organization; (2), National Association convention papers will be read; (3), monthly sales reports.

BRIDGE RIVER WORK VIEWED

Mr. G. M. Tripp Returns From Visit to Headquarters of New Hydro-Electric Development

TUNNEL TO TAKE TWO YEARS' WORK

The great potential hydro-electric development of the B.C. Electric Railway Company at Bridge River, 135 miles north of Vancouver, is described by Mr. G. M. Tripp, general superintendent of the B.C. Electric Railway, on his return from a visit to the site with the company's consulting engineer, Mr. E. E. Carpenter, of Vancouver.

There is a possible 700,000 horsepower development at this point, which is estimated to serve the Vancouver and district needs for a generation. This power will be generated in easy stages, and the company's plans call for 45,000 kilowatts, or 60,000 horsepower, to be developed at a cost of $12,271,000. By 1933 another unit will be added, bringing the total cost up to $14,700,000 and the capacity of the plant to 90,000 horsepower.

SCHOOL RIGHTS GO TO PRIVY COUNCIL

EDMONTON, Oct. 25.—Notice has been given the Provincial Government by the Federal Department of Justice that the Attorney-General of Canada intends to make application at the Michaelmas sitting of the judicial committee of the Imperial Privy Council for leave to appeal the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada on the constitutional validity of section 17 of the Alberta Act. This is the clause dealing with the separate school phase of the natural resources question.

Premier Brownlee says that the government will take no action in the matter at the present time, and when the Privy Council grants application for leave to appeal, the government will consider whether or not it will be represented at the subsequent hearings by counsel.

PIONEER CITIZEN DIED YESTERDAY

Mr. Charles Weiler Came to Victoria Sixty Years Ago—Was Member of Well-Known Firm

Victoria has lost one of its oldest pioneers in the person of Mr. Charles Weiler, who died at his residence, 757 Transit Road, yesterday. Mr. Weiler came to this city at the age of ten, sixty years ago.

Born in California in 1857, Mr. Weiler came to Victoria with his father in 1867. His father, the late Mr. John Weiler, was one of the founders of the well-known firm of Weiler Furniture Company, Limited.

The late Mr. John Weiler went to California in 1850, having been hired there by the gold rush. Finding lawless conditions prevailing he came north to go to the Cariboo gold fields, but on his arrival in Victoria set up in the furniture business with Mr. L. Stiemler. The firm was known then as Stiemler & Weiler. Four or five years after the establishment of the firm Mr. Stiemler retired, leaving Mr. John Weiler as head of the business. This business was later taken over by his three sons, George, Otto and the deceased, Mr. Charles, and the deceased, Mr. Charles, Weiler retired from the business about eight years ago.

The late Mr. Weiler is survived by his widow, brother Otto, one nephew and two nieces. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias. The funeral will be held from the B.C. Funeral Chapel on Thursday at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at Royal Oak Burial Park. Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick will conduct the service.

NEW "Y" OPENED BY LIEUT. GOVERNOR

Premises Thronged With People During Dedication Service Yesterday Afternoon

"There is much material prosperity in Canada, but unless we have social prosperity, we are neglecting an important duty," the Young Women's Christian Association in opening such a fine building in Victoria is bearing testimony to its thought for social prosperity," said His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor in the course of the address which he delivered yesterday afternoon at the formal opening of the new "Y" at Courtney and Blandford Streets.

Crowds of visitors streamed through the building all afternoon and evening, the assembly hall and adjacent reception rooms being packed during the formal part of the two programmes given during the day. The afternoon affair was a dedication service, opened with the singing of the doxology, and including, in addition to the address by His Honor, a Scripture reading by Rev. T. W. Oldstone, dedicatory prayer by Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, an address by Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, greetings by Miss Edna Pearce, general secretary of the Vancouver Y.W.C.A., and Mr. Mark Graham, chairman of the Victoria Y.M.C.A., and an address by Mr. James Forman, who gave a short talk on the work of the "Y" and made grateful reference to the various friends who had generously helped the achievement by securing contributions.

Bolivia Execution

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Oct. 25.—Four men convicted of the assassination in 1917 of General Jose Manuel Pando, former president of Bolivia, yesterday cast lots to select the one who must die for the murder of the youngest of the quartette, Alfred Juarez, twenty-eight, drew the fatal black ballot amidst a roar of cheering and a hail of stones from the part of the spectators and the stoical calmness of the condemned. Juarez, protesting his innocence, urged the court to make haste with his execution by a firing squad. He said he could not ask for a pardon, but an appeal has been made to the president on his behalf.

The daughters of the murdered general were present. They said they were convinced of the guilt of the four men.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaels

HURRY
Oh, it's hurry, hurry, and it's hurry, hurry, hurry, keeping moving with the hours flying past; rushing onward every season, heedless of all rhyme or reason, with no aim in view except just moving fast. All this hurry makes men wonder, but they never pause to wonder if they couldn't make more speed by taking time; not one snarl do they untangle of life's web, but rush and wrangle, still complaining that it's all an up-hill climb. In shadow and their blindness they've no time for common kindness, and no care for all love's tender little ways; ever going faster, faster, speed becomes their final master, and the ruler of their reckless, rushing days. Oh, it's more of hurry, hurry, more of weariness and worry, till the mass of men forget true use and duty and lose happiness and beauty that are found by simpler souls who seek content.

Good news! Read what this RADOX enthusiast writes: "For about 3 years I tried all sorts of corn paints and plasters. Corns got so bad I could not walk about very well. I started using RADOX BATH SALTS and don't feel any pain from them now. When you put your feet into a foot-bath containing Radox Bath Salts, the dead skin combines with the Radox Salts to form a protein salt which is dissolved in the water of the actual corn. This dissolves in water and so loosens the corn that you can lift it out, root and all. Radox Bath Salts do not affect the living skin—only the corn which is dissolved. LIPSEY RECITAL ATTRACTS MANY

First United Church Scene of Popular Entertainment Given by the Onwego Class Yesterday

The recital held yesterday evening at the First United Church by Miss Muriel Lipsey, of Vancouver, under the auspices of the Onwego Young Men's Bible Class, was given before a packed house.

In the dramatic monologue, "Peg o' My Heart," Miss Lipsey took the seven roles herself unaided, and was particularly good in the role of Peg, when she showed a true Irish accent.

Assisting Miss Lipsey were Miss Adele Bucklin, violinist; Miss Mary Bucklin, cellist; Miss Velma Bucklin, pianist, and Miss Merle North, gold medal soprano. Dr. W. G. Wilson, chairman, explained briefly the history of the Onwego Class and the work that the young men were doing for the church.

Miss Adele Bucklin's first number was "Scene de Ballet" (De Beriot), followed by Drydia's "Souvenir" (David Popper). The two closing numbers rendered by the Misses were "Extase" (Ganne) and "Celebre," a minuet by Valentin.

Flowers Presented

To Miss Mackenzie was presented a pretty corsage bouquet of violets and roses; and to Miss Agnew and Mrs. Fletcher bouquets were also presented, accompanied by an expression of thanks for their great part in promoting the enterprise.

Mr. Forman expressed thanks for the valuable advice and help which they of the advisory board had received from the Hon. Walter Nichol, Mr. Charles Todd and Mr. Winslow.

A message of regret from Mayor Pendray was given.

The place was packed again in the evening, when women and girls were the special guests, the various girls' clubs being represented, viz., swimming, basketry, home nursing, physical culture, china painting, and the Sunday Bible class.

Boy King Lives in Simple Way

Rumanian Sovereign, Aged Six, Prefers Toys to Throne, Like Any Sensible Child

SINAIA, Rumania, Oct. 25.—The richest royal baby in the world, Michael, who draws $1,000,000 a year for serving as King of Rumania, today celebrated his sixth birthday.

The blue-eyed boy, however, prefers his toys to his throne; his kite to his kingdom.

"Mickey," according to Princess Helen, his mother, has been a good boy during the past year, so he has received many birthday presents from his family and relatives.

Michael dresses like any Canadian child of his age, wears a bib and tucker, eats oatmeal and milk, buckwheat cakes, cookies, lollipops and apples on the stick.

Also, like little boys and girls who are not kings or queens, Michael goes to bed early, says his prayers every night and morning, gets up at 8 o'clock and helps his mother with breakfast, goes to school, runs errands and answers the telephone.

All of the little King's subjects address him as "Your Majesty," which, in his childish innocence he cannot understand. "Why have they changed my name?" he constantly asks his mother, who still calls him "Baby." He would much rather be called plain "Mickey" than "Majesty."

RADIO LECTURE

The preacher was talking about people who attend church for no better reason than to show off their new clothes. He concluded his homily with this tribute: "I am thankful to see it is obvious now of you have come here for that reason."

Mr. Joseph Rose, optometrist, will lecture over radio CFTP this evening at 8:30 o'clock on the care of the eyes. This lecture will be the first of a series during the Winter months.

Several donations were received in the course of the day, including a basket of flowers from Woodwards; $100 given anonymously; $100 added to the building fund by Mr. Shelly, of Shelly Bros., Vancouver; and a further sum, in cash, from the Ice Men.

The artistic scheme of decoration found general approval, although owing to the large crowd it was almost impossible to appreciate the beauty of the color scheme in some of the rooms. The big assembly room, furnished by the Agnes Deans Cameron Chapter, through Mrs. Macfarlane and Mrs. Miller; the sitting-room by the Women's Canadian Club, through Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. Angus Campbell, Mrs. Scurrah and Miss Agnew; the dining room by Mrs. Naughton and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have furnished bedrooms; and the Welcome Club has furnished dishes for the kitchenette connected with their clubroom. Among the treasured gifts is a memorial picture of Mrs. Beckwith.

News and Notes of Realty in Victoria and District

By H. D. PATTERSON

SOME NOTES ON SURVEYS

It is always interesting to property owners to know where the boundaries of their property are. It is, or should be, vital to a prospective purchaser to know to an inch the location of the corners of the property for which he is paying his money. During the past few years real estate salesmen in Victoria have found it increasingly difficult to cover and point out to prospective purchasers the boundaries of property for sale, especially in the case of vacant lots.

In order to get the material for an article on this subject, the writer interviewed a surveyor, Mr. H. E. Whyte, of Musgrave & Whyte. Mr. Whyte pointed out that during the boom years of 1910 to 1913 surveys were made in a hurried manner, owing to the demand for haste on the part of people who wanted to get their property subdivided for sale. Wooden pegs were used to mark the corners. Most of these have rotted out, been moved, kicked over or pulled up and used to tether cows. The Land Registry requirements as to the plans to be filed with them were not sufficiently strict to require that the pegs be of a certain size or shape. In some cases the compass bearings of the side lines of lots were not given, nor were the angles at the intersection of the side line with the street shown.

"With what degree of accuracy should a corner stake be placed?" Mr. Whyte was asked. "In residential surveys," he stated, "surveyors now endeavor to be correct to an inch, but an error of one or two inches is not important in these surveys. In starting a survey at the request of an owner or prospective purchaser," Mr. Whyte continued, "it is necessary first to get a copy of the registered plan of the property from the Land Registry office. If after a visit to the property no existing pegs can be found, measurements are taken from an existing fence or sidewalk. This gives a rough idea of the location of the corner. Sometimes by digging at the spot thus indicated, the point of a peg, or the hole left by a peg, can be found. Sometimes a permanent monument with a tack in it which marks the exact spot can be found. When various measurements taken check with one another, a satisfactory start can be made to satisfy marking the proper corners of an existing property, or the new corners, if a subdivision is to be made.

Surveyors are now making a practice of using iron pipes as wooden pegs to mark corners," stated Mr. Whyte. His firm found it a good plan to place wooden pegs at the corners and also iron pipes on the side lines at a point three feet from the corner, and furnish a plan showing the positions of these pipes, which could be kept by the owner. If the wooden pegs happened to be moved, which is frequently the case when the builder puts his fence posts on the corner, the proper corner could always be located by measuring three feet along the side lines from the iron pipe. Sometimes the builder will pull the peg out and put the centre of the post where he thinks the peg was, and then replace the peg at the side of the post. Whatever practice is followed by the builder, stated Mr. Whyte, it nearly always results in corner stakes being shifted.

Mr. Whyte feels that purchasers who take existing fences as being proper boundaries are running the risk of encroaching on other people's property when erecting fences, cement driveways or garages. There is even danger of the eave of a house overhanging the next lot.

"The really moderate cost of a survey," continued Mr. Whyte, "would be nothing compared to the cost of moving a fence or garage, or perhaps having to build a large number of federal officers and men operating in the Oriaba section. They were killed in action Saturday while storming the rebel redoubt of General Jesus Losada, bandit chief, who two weeks ago aligned himself with the Gomez-Almada factions."

Holman, the company's field man, he inspected all the tobacco barns in the Vernon and Oryana sections and some in the vicinity of this city. He stated that he was well pleased with the quality of the blue-cured tobacco produced by the curing houses at Oryana and Okanagan Mission. Its texture being all that could be desired, though it was somewhat dark in color, and that he would endeavor to get the farmers of the Okanagan to cultivate at least three thousand acres of tobacco next season.

Not a sample in the lot but had wire or native silver, that being the basis on which they were selected.

Dr. H. E. Young, Provincial Officer of Health, Addresses Conference in Session Here

For the past two days members of the Provincial Women's Institutes board have been in session with Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, superintendent, and Mrs. J. D. Gordon, president, at the superintendent's office, Parliament Buildings, planning the year's work. Yesterday morning they were visited by Dr. H. E. Young, provincial superintendent of health, who told them of the health work that is being done throughout the province, and the great help which the Women's Institute is giving in carrying this on.

Another outstanding feature of the conference was the report given by Mrs. M. L. Murray, provincial secretary, and editor of Country Life, who gave an account of the British Columbia Institutes' section of the Toronto Exhibition. This collection had attracted a great deal of attention, and she had received so many orders for British Columbia Institute-made gloves at the time that the members of the various Institutes in this province were engaged in the manufacture of these gloves had since complained that they had more work than they could supply. Mrs. Murray expressed warm thanks to Messrs. James Bros. and Messrs. Brown Bros. for their gifts of bulbs and seeds; and to Messrs. Matthews Bros. for their gift of bulbs.

Mrs. Murray in establishing a market for chrysanthemums and bulbs has put British Columbia on the map in Eastern Canada, one of the members of the board commented at the conference.

The conference also decided on a survey of the Women's Institutes of the province with the object of finding out the drawbacks as well as the compensations experienced by the women in the rural districts. In the survey up to date it had been discovered that women in the remote districts were far more anxious to have the luxuries than the necessities; that they would rather have the radio than the washing machine. A questionnaire is being prepared by Mrs. MacLachlan and Mrs. Gordon, and this will be distributed to the individual women whose functions the committees now being eleven in number: Home economics, public health and child welfare, education and better schools, legislation, immigration and settlement, publicity and national events, home industries, agriculture, community betterment, Women's Institute work and method, and League of Nations.

Through the health department the Women's Institute is offering good prizes for the best layettes made from patterns supplied by the health department. The idea of this is to help the circulation of letters of advice to expectant mothers, issued by the health department. The members of the board, comprising, in addition to Mrs. Mac-

Lachlan and Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Mrs. Noble, Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Pitt, and Mrs. Murray, will visit the Parliament at Mill Bay this morning, and this afternoon will visit the Langford Women's Institute.

Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs

The various troops in the district are settling down to winter work.

Third Troop are re-equipping with new uniforms, dark green shirts and blue shorts. They are working through tenderfoot work again from the beginning.

Tullim Troop have changed their meeting night to Saturday for the winter and hope to make good progress with second class work.

St. Michael's Troop—At the last meeting the Troop of the new recruits, T. E. Buck, was invested.

James Bay Troop are quietly adding to their numbers and look forward to this old Troop taking its former place in the district.

Oaklands Troop—At the last meeting Tenderfoot knots were viewed. Some first aid work was also done and the patrol leader of Foxes gave an excellent demonstration of bandaging a fractured leg.

Fairfield Troop—The district commissioner visited this Troop last Thursday. The chief feature was the presentation to A. S. M. MacKenzie of his citizenship beads and parchment and also an autographed letter from His Excellency Lord Willington, Chief Scout of Canada, expressing his appreciation of "Midway's" effort and his sympathy for all the suffering he has gone through and borne in such a Scoutly manner.

The Squire spoke to the Troop on what the Scout day may mean to us all in our everyday life.

St. Mary's Troop—This was a busy meeting. The district commissioner and A. Keta Hilliard were present. A very impressive ceremony was held when District Scoutmaster Hartley invested the following recruits: Jack Harness, Don Johnson, John Biller, Bill Langton and Dick Shaw.

The following promotions have been made: P. L. T. Rose to be Troop leader; Cougar Patrol J. Gordon to be acting patrol leader; Curlew Patrol B. Rice Jones to be second. Second class badges were awarded to Second J. Grant, who was also awarded his Grade "A" all-round cards. Fireman's proficiency badges were also given to T. L. Rose, Patrol Leader Bob Connell and Second J. Grant, MacDonald and R. Rice Jones.

All Scout and club leaders are reminded of the extra council meeting at headquarters at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

WOLF CUB NEWS

The Wolf Cub Pack is designed to be a junior branch of the Scout movement, in order to meet the eagerness of a large number of small boys who are Scouts and who are as yet too young.

It does not put them to the same tasks and tests as the older boys, as they are likely to overdo themselves in the effort to keep up to the mark. Their tests have therefore been simplified and so arranged that they are suitable for boys of Cub age. It is scarcely right to ask the younger boys to undertake duties and promises which they can neither grasp nor carry out, therefore the Cub training, also its promise and the law, are different from, but steps towards those of the Scouts.

PACK NEWS

New Cubs Enrolled—Tenderpads: B. Chisholm, V. Turner, Oaklands Pack; Tenderpad G. Coleman, North Quadra Pack; Tenderpad J. Barber, Starkey, B. Tait, A. Pickles, F. B. Gregory, M. Beedham, J. Mitchell and T. Izard, St. Michael's Pack; Tenderpads J. Fawcett, S. Laybourn, O. Marston, St. Mary's North Pack; Tenderpads J. Hannan, B. Cutforth, Martin, S. Martin, Collegiate Pack.

Cubs having gained first star—B. Baker, J. Morgan, Collegiate Pack; C. McKewen, St. Mary's North Pack; M. Page, D. Desjardins, St. Mary's South Pack.

The Mirror of the Mode

By MARY MARSHALL

TO the seasoned housewife the question of what a maid can do usually counts for a good deal more than what she is willing to wear. The question of uniforms is more or less incidental where there is only a single maid. But to the young woman daughter of the family uniforms seem very important.

I have been reading Dorothy Scarborough's new novel, "Impatience Griseled." If you have been reading it too, you may recall the twenty-year-old Lilith's attitude on the subject. She goes to dine at the Withropes in New York and sees "the footman in wine-colored livery, who opened the door for her, the butler in evening dress hovering by—the exquisitely appointed bedroom in which a maid, smart in her grey taffeta and crisp white apron, assisted her with her primping—all awed her with their perfection."

And then: "The dinner was a shimmering delight, with its table softly gay with flowers and candles and silver, the easy talk in which she joined as deftly as the others, the laughter light as soap bubbles in the background, past three lively footmen, Lilith saw the superior table at the paragon, with Sheba in her sloppy dress and red run-down heels, slamming the dishes on the table and leaving the family to wait on themselves."

Perhaps it would have been out of the question to expect the hard-worked Sheba to appear other than she did, but there is no reason in most families why the maid of all works cannot wear a trim uniform. And if there are twenty-year-old daughters in the family this bit of formality seems extremely important.

Today's sketch shows the after-noon uniform chosen by one well-informed woman for her one only maid. The mohair gown is of brown, but black or dark grey, dark green, dark blue or mulberry might be chosen instead. Such frocks may be bought ready made at a surprisingly low price or might be made at home for even less. The skirt is fairly long, showing an attractive margin below the short, smart little apron.

Just two months now before Christmas! Time to think of Christmas presents in earnest. Of course you intend to make some of them, and to help you out in this pleasant task we have made a diagram pattern with directions for making a number of attractive handbags. If you are interested in making one or two of these for Christmas, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will send them to you at once. Or if you are a spig you might like to make one for yourself.

CROWD ATTENDS ARTS DISPLAY

Annual Exhibition, Opened by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Yesterday

One of the biggest crowds on record visited the Island Arts and Crafts Society's annual exhibition at the Belmont Building yesterday afternoon, on the opening day, a count taken at 6 o'clock showing that over 200 visitors had been present.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who was accompanied by Miss Helen Mackenzie and Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn, declared the exhibition open after an address in which he very heartily congratulated the organization in having assembled such a fine collection of pictures and handicrafts.

"Everyone has reason to be proud of the exhibition this year," said His Honor. The dominant note in Canada during the past twelve months has been one of optimism, but it was an optimism based more on the material than the artistic progress of the country. He was glad to see here in Victoria a desire to keep pace in aesthetic things, and also to note that in collecting their material for the exhibition, the committee had not limited itself to local things, but had things from as far afield as Montreal. There was no reason why in the course of time this should not be an exhibition representative of the whole of Canada.

Reference was made by His Honor to a recent sale at Christie's, London, when a wonderful collection of paintings gathered by a Canadian living in Montreal, had won the attention of all the leading connoisseurs. The man who had collected these things had, no doubt, been assisted by Canadian artists, showing that there was an appreciation of art in this country despite the reputation which Canada has for appreciating such material things as wheat and other products much more.

There was, in fact, a very close relation between art and industry. Arts and crafts always went together, art being applied in such articles of commerce as wallpaper, furniture, curtains, rugs, etc.

A GREAT SERVICE

"In the new world people are apt to get a little lopsided and forget that man cannot build up a nation solely on the basis of material things. The speaker at another point, noted the greater service could be rendered to the young people of the country, who would be the citizens and rulers in a few years' time, than to introduce them to art, give them an appreciation of art and beauty. In the Old Country, where there existed so much that was both good and lovely, children received an unconscious training in appreciation of pictures by contact with the lovely works from the past ages. It was not possible for everyone to have beautiful pictures on their walls, but it was possible for most homes to have at least one good thing, constant association with which would have its effect on the child's sense of beauty.

His Honor expressed an especial wish to see the crafts, particularly

Mrs. Harris' collection of woollens and woven articles, and the collection of handicrafts sent from Montreal.

Welcomed by Mr. T. S. Gore and members of the committee, His Honor and Miss Mackenzie were their guests for tea, afterwards making a tour of the exhibition. Before leaving His Honor purchased a charming little water color, "Mount of the Holy Cross, Hope, B.C.," by Mr. Thomas W. Frapp, of Vancouver.

In introducing His Honor, Mr. Gore, the president, briefly recited the history of the Arts and Crafts Society, which had its inception in 1888 under a different name. Holding one exhibition then, it had lapsed, and it was eighteen years before the next exhibition was held under the name of the Arts and Crafts Society. Even today it was not as robust as it should be. Many people still considered art to be "just frills," but as a matter of fact it was the foundation of all the great industries of the world, and a very useful and practical thing which deserved every possible encouragement. The fact that Victoria had not anything in the way of an art school was lamented by this speaker.

MANY PRESENT

Among the members of the committee who were present with the president to welcome His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie were Mr. J. S. McMillan, the president, Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. W. Loveland, Miss Lettice, Mrs. W. B. Young, Messrs. Bamford, Simons, Nairne, Major Leslie, Captain Harrison.

Among others noticed during the afternoon were Major and Mrs. Donald, Miss Jean Donald, Mrs. D. J. Clark, Mrs. Connell, Mrs. W. F. Bullen, Mrs. Herbert Beckton, Mrs. Rowlands, Mrs. Greenway, Mrs. Claudet, Mr. and Mrs. Averill, Col. and Mrs. Hodgins, Miss P. Hodgins, Mrs. Heisterman, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Pagett, Mrs. J. S. McMillan, Miss McMillan, Mrs. Healey Kerr, Mrs. and Miss Bushby, Mrs. Dennis Harris, Mr. Moore (Bradford, England), Mrs. Mosher, Major Hibben, Mrs. Drummond Davies, Mrs. Quinlan, Miss Oldfield, Mrs. Shalleron, Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Mrs. Wheatley, Mrs. W. J. Bowser, Miss Crease, Miss Le Soeur, Miss A. Ravenhill, Miss E. Ravenhill, Mrs. Mortimer Appleby, Mrs. Sanderson, Miss Margaret Clay, Miss Alexander, Mrs. Leslie, Mr. S. MacLure, Mrs. Musket, Miss D. Donogh, Miss Lettice, Mrs. Justin Gilbert, Mr. Goby, Mr. T. Goby, Mrs. George Phillips, Mr. Donald Fraser.

Mrs. Hodgins was in charge of the tea room, which will be open every day during the week, and assisting were Mrs. T. Matson, Miss Peggy Hodgins, Miss M. Bullock-Webster, and Miss Stredfield. Mrs. Pagett, Mrs. Young and Mr. Simons had charge of the receipt of custom.

McKinnon Trial

VANCOUVER, Oct. 25.—In the trial in assize court of Thomas Clark, charged with the murder of Jean McKinnon, June 12, a long legal discussion took place this afternoon between counsel as to whether statements made by accused after his arrest could be admitted. The contested evidence was to come from police officers who questioned him after his arrest. Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald conceded part of the claim of defence counsel that accused may not have fully appreciated his position when he was suddenly warned in police headquarters and ruled out most of the evidence, admitting only one question regarding spots on accused's clothes. The trial will resume tomorrow morning.

PRESS CLUB'S BALL FRIDAY

MERRYMAKERS WILL REVEL AT HALLOWEEN CARNIVAL IN EMPRESS HOTEL.

Syncopeation, Grand Contest, Novelties, Decorations, to be "The Very Last Word" in Excellence.

The Halloween ball, the gay Autumn revel of the Victoria Press Club, one of the most brilliant social events of the season, will take place next Friday night, October 28, in the Empress Hotel.

Everything is in readiness for the Press Club's party, and hundreds of Victorians are anxiously awaiting the hour of 9 o'clock, Friday night, when the grand function will get under way. And what a carnival the event promises to be!

It will be one great evening of fun from start to finish. There'll be oceans of pep, life and zip—and we don't mean maybe, either! Don't miss it, whatever you do.

AND SYNCOPEATION, TOO Syncopeation, and the peepiest brand possible, will be dispensed during the function by the Crystal Garden and Len Acres' orchestras.

The musicians have arranged a programme of the very latest in dance tunes, to which the merry-makers will undoubtedly do full justice.

And then, the decorations—what a display of splendor there will be! The decorative scheme will be carried out in Hallows' colors and symbols. Wilches, black cats and pumpkins will mingle in brilliant kaleidoscopic effect, in keeping with the Hallows' aspect of the fête.

A feature which will likely prove an artistic triumph will be the grand competition, in which prizes valued at $100 will be distributed. This unusual contest is creating vast interest, and the successful pickers of the spoils will receive unusual awards.

LOCAL BASEBALLERS AUTOMATICALLY SUSPENDED

Baseball Heads Will Be Requested to Deal With "Irregularities"

Local Branch of B.C.A.A.U. Passes Information to B.C.A.B.A. for Action—Ruling Has Big Effect on Present Standing of Athletes

The local bosses of the amateur code gathered last night at the B.C.A.A.U. in an effort to clear the air of the "irregularities" in connection with local baseball circles, but after a lengthy deliberation the situation remained just as it was before they assembled.

The reply from the Senior Amateur Baseball League dealing with the case of players taking part in a game in Vancouver under assumed names and the matter of players being playing against a team on which professional players appeared on the line-up, was read at the meeting. The local baseball body in its letter stated it had advised in question in the Provincial play-offs, while it wiped its hands of the exhibition game between the Sons of Canada and the Old-Timers.

After a lengthy discussion, it was decided to send copies of the local board's letter to the Senior Amateur Baseball League and its reply to the B.C.A.B.A. in Vancouver and let the Provincial body attend to the matter.

Johnny Kerr and Art Webster, who, it is understood, are the players in question, will be asked to appear on the carpet next Tuesday and explain their actions.

AUTOMATICALLY SUSPENDED
The board made it understood that these players were automatically suspended from the date of the game.

Arthur Manson, in speaking of the matter, said that it was a breach of the rules, and that Tait, president of the local branch, considered it a serious matter.

In the case of the Sons of Canada vs. the Old-Timers, the union decided to ask the local league for the list of players, although the executive of this body already made it known that they had nothing to do with the game in which a breach of the amateur code was supposed to have been made.

The players who took part in the game against the "Poker" Gravelin, two golf professionals, remain suspended. This case must be handled to a finish, Leonard Tait said, to prevent a recurrence. Should the British Columbia Amateur Baseball Association fail to take any action, the local board of the B.C.A.A.U. may hand out a suspension to the players in question.

MANY INVOLVED
The decision of the meeting of the B.C.A.A.U. in automatically suspending the players involved in the case of Canada-Old-Timers exhibition game may have far-reaching effects. Two of the players, Art Webster and Stan Stanley, have already appeared in Canadian Rugby games against New Westminster, Vancouver City and the University of British Columbia in the Big Four League. This sport, it is understood, is governed by the amateur laws, and the players who appeared with or against either Stanley or Webster, are also automatically suspended.

Stanley is also a star hockey player, while Webster is a basketball player of considerable merit. This means that these two and the players who were kept out of amateur sport unless the union can see its way clear to whitewash the affair, as it did during trouble of five years ago.

ELECT OFFICERS
Following the discussion of the business, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, Arthur Manson; vice-president, W. G. Bird; secretary-treasurer, W. S. Macgillivray; Mr. Maguire, who has held this office for the last six years, consented to carry on until a successor could be found.

G. A. Heineke made application on behalf of the Tillikum Athletic Club for affiliation to the British Columbia Amateur Athletic Union, and W. H. Davies for the V.I.A.A. Both asked for permission to stage city and Vancouver Island boxing championships. The meeting stated that the matter needed further consideration.

World Series Stars Hunt Canadian Moose

1. Eddie Collins. 2. Joe Bush. 3. Bob Shawkey. 4. Mark Koenig. 5. Benny Bengough. 6. Sam Jones. 7. New Brunswick Moose. 8. Calling the moose. 9. Party of World Series Stars entering N.B. woods after moose.

SOME of the leading luminaries in the professional baseball firmament have laid down their baseball bats and shouldered rifles to join the army of hunters into the woods of New Brunswick after moose. The party of the party are members of the World Series Champions, New York Yankees; three others helped the Yanks win championships in other years, and the seventh player has been one of the outstanding figures in the game for many years. Those with the party are: Bob Shawkey, Benny Bengough, and Mark Koenig, of the Yankees; Sam Jones, Washington; Fred Hofman, Boston Red Sox; Joe Bush, Toledo; Eddie Collins, assistant manager Philadelphia Athletics; William J. Slocum, New York Evening Telegram and Dr. J. Wolford, big game hunter and baseball devotee from Philadelphia.

The party arrived in Fredericton over Canadian Pacific lines, and they were tendered a reception by local sportsmen. The following day the players went into the woods at Clarendon on the main line of the C.P.R., where their schedule called for a two-week stay. The party took the entire camp and equipment of Jack Doran, well-known guide.

The territory entered is the same ground covered by Jack Dempsey several years ago and where the fistic star knocked out his first moose.

That Jack Doran should be selected as guide for the baseball party is appropriate when it is remembered that when the Fredericton Tartars were winning the baseball championships in the Marlborough times year after year, Doran was then sharing the coaching duties with "Big Larry" McLean, who afterwards became one of the star catchers of the National League and figured in several World Series.

The former club is being coached by "Scotty" Dowds, and in their practices they have shown up well. The Foresters, who will have on their line-up the Vellon brothers, will find strong opposition in the Navy aggregation, led by Skipper Barker. Barker is the scoring ace of the team, and is considered one of the most dangerous of the Navy attackers.

FIRST WINTER ADDITIONS TO BIG LEAGUES

List of Players Drafted From Minor Leagues Include Many Who Have Been Up Before

PROTHRO TO GO TO CHICAGO CUBS

O'Doul, of San Francisco, Booked to Go to New York Giants—Many Coast Leaguers Ticketed

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The first winter additions to the major league clubs have been made via the draft route.

The list of players drafted from the various minor leagues include the names of several who have been up before, but apparently still are desired by the major clubs.

Some of these are Frank O'Doul, "Doc" Prothro, Clyde Manion and Howard Freigau.

O'Doul, slugging star of the San Francisco outfield last season, goes to the Giants. Prothro, now with Portland, is slated to play third for the Cubs. Manion, former Detroit catcher, goes from Newark to the Browns.

Freigau, once a Cub and then a Cardinal, goes from Kansas City to Brooklyn.

Prothro is slated to fill the gap that caused Joe McCarthy so much trouble last season and which may have been considerable to do with the losing of the pennant by the Chicago outfit.

Freigau will join the disorganized Dodgers at a time when a passable game on his part should give him a chance to play regularly and prove that he wasn't through as a major leaguer when the Cubs shipped him to the Cardinals.

Washington-F. Griffen, pitcher, from Toronto; played this season with Greenville, S.C.; E. Wilson, outfielder, Milwaukee.

St. Louis—Clyde Manion, catcher, Newark, N.J.

ANOTHER DRAW IN WORLD CHESS

Capablanca and Alekhine May Create New Duration Record for Championship Play

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 25.—After only three more moves tonight in resumption of the game adjourned last night, Jose R. Capablanca and Alekhine agreed to another draw in the world's chess championship match. The victor of six games can claim the title held by Capablanca.

Beginning with September 16, twenty games have been played. Alekhine won three games and Capablanca two. At this rate the two masters may set a new duration record for championship play.

The twentieth game was considered by the experts quite unimportant, revealing to the eye a most complex line-up caused by Alekhine's daring play, which won him a pawn. Capablanca, on the other hand, played most carefully and was in such a strong position as to force a draw after forty-three moves.

The twenty-first game starts tomorrow night.

RULING ASKED ON FOUR ROYAL CITY LACROSSE PLAYERS

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—In reference to the recommendation by the British Columbia branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada to the Canadian Olympic Committee that the New Westminster lacrosse team, Canadian champions, be sent intact to the Olympic Games at Amsterdam next summer, it is pointed out here that the Canadian Olympic committee has already taken action in the matter by getting in touch with the international Olympic committee at Brussels, Belgium, in which he asks if it will be possible for Canada to use four doubtful players, who are now eligible for competition in Canada under Canadian amateur rules, but who were previously prohibited from accepting excessive expense money.

Legs Most Important in Athletic Sports

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Pol players last longer than any other athletes, because their ponies are their "legs." A man lasts in any sport just as long as his legs.

Dempsey could not run Tunney down in their last fight. His legs, rather than his fighting fists, were not equal to the occasion. Bill Tilden stars in the young French tennis star because his legs played out on him. The same is true in baseball. Even pitchers show their first signs of decline in their legs.

Catchers, however, suffer most in their legs. They are constantly crouching to give signals, tightens up a catcher's legs, and that is why, even the young catchers are the slowest men getting to first.

Winnipeg Swimmers Set Two New Marks

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—One Dominion and one provincial record was broken by Miss Vera Tustin, of Winnipeg, at the championship gala of the Women's Amateur Swimming Club here last night.

She swam the distance in 1:10.4, lowering the Canadian record formerly held by Miss Hazel Kessler, Winnipeg, by three-fifths of a second, and the provincial record by 14.5 seconds.

Albert Ford, in winning the 100-yard men's championship in 1:01.3-5, clipped two-fifths of a second off the former provincial mark.

World-Famous Stories

THE FIGHT WITH APOLLYON
By JOHN BUNYAN

John Bunyan, 1628-1688, is famous in English literature for his mastery of the type of fiction known as allegory. He wrote the "Pilgrim's Progress," the most famous allegory in the English language, while in prison. It tells of the progress of Christian from this world to that which is to come, in the form of a dream—describing figuratively the difficulties of the journey toward Heaven by following the Path. The present episode is one of the best known in the "Pilgrim's Progress." Among Bunyan's other works were "Grace Abounding to the Chief of Sinners" and "Life and Death of Mr. Badman."

But now, in this Valley of Humiliation, poor Christian was hard put to it; for he had gone but a little way, before he espied a foul fiend coming over the field to meet him. His name was Apollyon. Then did Christian begin to be afraid, and to cast in his mind whether to go back or to stand his ground. But he considered again that he had no armor on his back. Therefore he thought that to turn his back to the fiend might give him the greater advantage with ease to pierce him with darts. Therefore he resolved to venture and stand his ground; for, thought he, had I no more in mine eye than the saving of my life, it would be the best way to stand.

So he went on, and Apollyon met him. Now the monster was hideous to behold. He was clothed with scales, like a fish; he had wings like a dragon, feet like a bear, and out of his belly came fire and smoke; and his mouth was as the mouth of a lion. When he came up to Christian, he beheld him with a disdainful countenance, and thus began to question him:

"Whence came you?" asked Apollyon. "Whither are you bound?" "I come from the City of Destruction," answered Christian, "which is the place of all evil, and am going to the City of Zion."

"By this I perceive thou art one of my subjects," said the fiend, "for all that country is mine, and I am the prince and god of it. How is it, then, that thou hast run away from my king? Were it not that I hope thou mayest do me more service, I would strike thee now, at one blow, to the ground."

"I was born, indeed, in your dominions," said Christian, "but your services were hard, and your wages such as a man could not live on, for the wages of sin is death." Therefore, when I was come to years, I did as other considerate persons do, look out if perhaps I might mend myself."

"There is no prince that will lightly lose his subjects," asserted Apollyon. "Neither will I as yet lose thee. But since thou complainest of thy service and wages, be content to go back—what our country will afford I do here promise to give thee."

"But I have let myself to another," said Christian, "even to the King of princes. How can I, with fairness, go back to thee?" "Thou hast done in this, according to the proverb, 'changed bad for worse,'" said Apollyon. "But it is ordinarily for those that have professed themselves his servants, after a while to give him the slip, and return again to me. Do thou so too, and all shall be well."

"I have given him my faith," said Christian at this, "and sworn my allegiance to him. How, then, can I go from this, and not be hanged as a traitor?"

"Thou didst the same to me, and yet I am willing to pass by all, if thou now wilt turn again and turn back."

"What I promised thee was in my homage, and, besides, I count the Prince under whose banner now I stand is able to absolve me. Yes, and to pardon also what I did as to my compliance with thee," added Christian. "Besides, O thou destroyer of Apollyon! to speak truth, I like his services, his wages, his servants, his government, his company, and country, better than thine. Therefore, leave off, for I am his servant and I will follow him."

Apollyon tried again. "Remember," he said, "how many come to an ill end in his service. For I destroy transgressors against me and my ways. And I help and save those who serve me."

"Ah," said Christian, "his withholding his help is but to try and test his servants. As for the ill end they come to, that is most glorious in their account."

"Thou hast already been unfaithful to him," said Apollyon. "Wherein have I been unfaithful, O Apollyon?"

"Thou didst faint at first setting out. Thou didst attempt wrong ways to get rid of thy burden. Thou hast almost been persuaded to go back when faced with difficulties. And when thou talkest of thy journey thou art inwardly desirous of vainglory."

"All this is true," said Christian, "and much more besides. But the Prince whom I serve and honor is merciful, and ready to forgive. Besides, these things possessed me in your country, for there I sucked them in, and I have groaned under them, been sorry for them, and have obtained pardon of my Prince."

Then Apollyon broke out into a grievous rage. "I am an enemy of this Prince. I hate his person, his laws, and people. I am come out on purpose to oppose them."

Apollyon, beware what you do. I am in the King's highway; the way of holiness, therefore take heed to yourself."

Then Apollyon straddled quite a bit over the whole breadth of the way. "I swear thou shalt go no further—here I will spill thy soul," he said.

And with that he threw a flaming dart at his breast; but Christian had a shield with which he caught it, and so stopped it. Then did Christian draw, for he saw it was time to bestir him. Apollyon as fast made at him, throwing darts as thick as hail. By the which, notwithstanding, all that Christian could do to avoid it, Apollyon wounded him in his head, his hand and foot. This made Christian give a little back. Apollyon, therefore, followed his work amain, and Christian again took courage and resisted as manfully as he could.

This sore combat lasted for above half a day, even till Christian was almost quite spent. Then Apollyon, seeing his opportunity, began to gather up close to Christian, and wrestling with him, gave him a dreadful fall. With that Christian's sword fell out of his hand. And Apollyon almost pressed him to death, so that Christian began to despair of life.

But while Apollyon was fetching his last blow, thereby to make a full end of this good man, Christian simply stretched out his hand for his sword, and caught it. With that he gave him a deadly thrust, which made him give back, as one that had been struck by a mortal wound.

Christian, perceiving that, said: "Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us. Therefore, though we be surrounded by dragons, we shall not be afraid, for we have the blood of the Lamb, which cleanseth us from all unrighteousness."

And with that, Apollyon spread forth his dragon's wings and sped him away, that Christian for a season saw him no more.

In this combat no one can imagine unless he had seen and heard what yelling and hideous roaring Apollyon made all the time of the fight. He spoke like a dragon. And on the other side, groans and sighs burst from Christian's heart.

So, when the battle was over, Christian said: "I will here give thanks to him that delivered me out of the mouth of the lion, to him that did help me against Apollyon." And so he did.

General Manager of C.P.R. Telegraphs Pays Periodic Visit to City

On a periodical visit to Victoria, Mr. J. McMillan, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs, Montreal, and Mr. W. D. Neill, assistant manager of Western lines, were in the city yesterday.

The Canadian Pacific, Mr. McMillan explained, was the representative in Canada of the Marconi Beam System. In referring to the great station erected for the British authorities to enable them to talk to the British dominions and colonies, he said that Rugby had been talking to Montreal for almost a year, as well as to South Africa, Australia and India, direct.

The station can communicate with any part of the Empire or any ship on the seven seas at any time, Mr. McMillan explained.

This inspection is preliminary to preparation of the estimates for 1928. There has been a great growth of business, both commercial and for brokerage offices, eastward in the last few years.

The direct wire, Montreal to Port Alberni, connecting with the Pacific cable to Australia, is the longest working connection in the world, the general manager stated.

The Bays will trot out the same team which lowered the colors of the Garrison last week.

Tillicums and Garrison will meet at Beacon Hill upper ground, in what should be an interesting affair. The Clubmen and the Tommies are tied, with four points apiece.

Saanich United and Navy, cellar occupants, will provide the third match of the card when they clash at Beacon Hill lower ground.

Today's teams are: Tillicums—Sallyway, Burns, Brynjolfsson, Davis, Clark, Sewell, Cann, Hamar, Bissell, Wright and Ragby.

EDMONTON FIRST TO GET FREE AIR PLANES

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—Increasing interest is being manifested throughout the country in the project sponsored by the Department of National Defence regarding light airplane clubs and today it was stated here by department officers that two queries had been received formally requiring the government to fulfill its part of the scheme by shipping two Moth planes provided under the provisions of the plan.

Edmonton, Alta., which has already an efficient airport, wired the Department declaring that the city's application was in the mail and seeking government action. A number of prominent Albertans are behind the Edmonton club and their request will be fulfilled as soon as the planes are available.

Walter Hagen's Mashie Is Unorthodox Shot

By SOL METZGER

When I see that bulldog fighter, Walter Hagen, in a round of golf, the thing that most impresses me is his determined personality. The Haig gets his drubbings, more now than in the past, but you get a thrill out of watching him. The impression he conveys, and you put it in these words: "Well, here's a fellow they can't beat!" It is this up-and-at-em spirit which makes Hagen the great drawing card he is.

At least few ever had the nerve to send a caddy on ahead over 200 yards to hold the pin while he played his second to the green in the British Open, a shot he had to hole in order to tie.

Hagen is a splendid mashie player. He can get them on the green. And as he is one of the world's best putters, he brings in his share of one putt holes in a round.

Let us analyze his mashie, his long one, for the long shots of a man of his power are his most interesting ones. He's a bit unorthodox in that he stands well away from the ball. Note, too, that his stance is open, that he takes a full pivot and at the top his weight is on his right foot, the big toe of the left merely acting as balance. He even takes the club back to the horizontal at top.

Note especially how he takes it back—straight left arm. That club and left arm are one throughout. Note, too, that the Haig has his head cocked a bit to one side so he can keep his eyes on that spot his club head is to hit. And his pivot, well his left arm goes back simultaneously with the bend in of his left knee and turn of the left hip. There need be no rush in this backswing. And note especially that his left wrist does not break during this backswing. Tomorrow we will discuss his downswing with this club.

His Own Lawyer

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—A layman undertook to carry his own appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada yesterday when William Semmelhaack, a Montreal tradesman, appeared acting as his own counsel. He was immediately asked by the Court if he had complied with its rule that under such circumstances there must be produced proof of service of his notice to appeal on all parties concerned. This rule, it was explained, was for the protection of the court and respondents. Not being aware of the rule and not being able to produce the required affidavits, his appeal was not heard.

The court, however, indulgently gave him leave to bring his case on for the next term, and explained the nature of the affidavits required and stated on whom they had to be served.

Vancouver Island Wins Expert Approval for Fox Farming

Fox and Fur Display at International Show to Attain Fine Character

Lieutenant-Governor Will Open Exhibition Today of Registered Silvers and Other Varieties, Chiefly Alaskan Blues, at Weiler Building—Handsome Trophies Offered

Fox Catching Contest Is Certain to Attract Lively Interest Each Day

THE International Fox and Fur Show which is to be opened at 2:30 p.m. today by His Honor R. Randolph Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, and which is being held in the Weiler Building, adjacent to the Crystal Garden, is unique in its character and, in fact, the first of its kind ever held in the Dominion of Canada, for this is not only an exhibition of Canadian Government registered silver foxes, but an exhibition of foxes in general, such as Alaskan Blues, cross foxes, etc., together with many other kinds of fur-bearing animals.

The Vancouver Island Registered Silver Fox Breeders' Association is to be congratulated upon being the first association of fox breeders in the Dominion to stage such an exhibition for the encouragement of the breeders of all classes of fur-bearing stock, and such an exhibition is bound to stir the interest of the public in an industry for which the climatic conditions of Vancouver Island and the Coast regions of British Columbia are so well suited.

The prevailing idea that a severe climate is essential for the production of the finest fur is erroneous. Some of the finest pelts have already found their way to the open markets, and commanded very high figures from the Coast regions of the Province.

VALUABLE INDUSTRY
Prince Edward Island, with a population of 80,000, derives over $3,000,000 annually from its fur industry, and in the opinion of experts there is no reason why Vancouver Island should not exceed this astonishing figure.

The idea that many have that the industry will be overdone is just as erroneous as that the best of fur cannot be produced upon the Pacific Coast. To anyone attending the West Coast Fur Auction Sale at Tacoma, Washington, on October 11, when some 30,000 skins of various kinds were sold, realizing $150,000, it was patent that the buyers who came from all parts of the North American continent were after the finest skins, and were ready to pay the highest figures to obtain the best possible quality at that sale fetched higher prices than whole lots of skins of merely ordinary quality, and no matter how quickly the fur industry may grow the world over, the best will ever demand prices that will be very remunerative to the breeder.

The United States Imports alone of raw pelts per annum amounts to $103,000,000, whilst Canada's total production is only around $17,000,000. These figures should answer this question in the minds of any pessimists.

SILVER FOX FARMING
As a branch of animal husbandry, silver fox farming is one of the most interesting, calling for scientific study in feeding methods the year round for the best success. Cheap foundation stock is the poorest kind of economy, and only courts disaster. There is a wide range of difference in the prices asked for breeding stock, even in Government registered animals, and those starting in the business will do well to exercise the greatest care in finding out the history of any pair of animals when offered at prices which seem to be tempting to the would-be purchaser, or keen disappointment may be the result. To secure a right start a few hundred dollars spent in the purchase of a pair of proven breeders of high quality, mated by an experienced and reliable breeder for the production of the best in breeding stock and pelts over and above some tempting offer is money well spent at the outset. Much may be learned by a visit to the exhibition, where the public will be able to see some of the finest silver and other foxes judged upon their pelt value. Competition will be of the keenest, for some of the best from Prince Edward Island, from

Hudson's Bay Co. Acquires an Interest in Two Farms in Prince Edward Island—Will Raise Pelts

SILVER FOXES THEIR SPECIALTY

Under the heading of "Hudson's Bay Company Acquires Fox Farms," a news article appeared in a late number of an English fur farming magazine in which it was stated that the famous Hudson's Bay Company at the meeting held in London on June 28 announced the fact that they had entered the fur farming industry by acquiring an interest in certain fox farms in Prince Edward Island, Canada. The Governor of the company, Mr. Charles V. Sale, made the announcement when the question of fur supplies and the conservation of fur-bearing animals came up. "We have, however, long realized that, while conservation is necesry in the best interests of the fur trade, it represents a negative policy and that it may be possible to adopt more positive measures. Of such is the farming of fur-bearing animals, in which experiments have already passed the stage in which success was dependent upon the sale of breeding stock, and farms are now becoming a source for the supply of pelts. While the value of such pelts sold from fur farms in Canada in 1925 was only about four per cent of the total fur production, it is nevertheless an indication which we think it is desirable to follow. We have, therefore, acquired a share interest in two fox farms in Prince Edward Island, and look upon this not merely as an experiment, but as a step in extending our fur trade to the three Maritime Provinces in which so far we have never had any representation.

As the London paper truly remarks, this step on the part of this well known company is most significant when the magnitude of the Hudson's Bay Company's fur trading operations are taken into consideration. It has trading posts all over Canada, and has done the largest fur business in the world for hundreds of years. Besides, the company hold three large auction sales of furs in London yearly. The company has always handled silver fox and made a specialty of that fur, and by going into the raising of these animals they evidently realize that the silver fox in the wild state is a thing of the past so far as it ever being secured in sufficient quantity to meet even a one-hundredth part of the demand. What may result from this move on the part of this great company entering the industry is hard to determine, but it is safe to assume that before many years are over their interests in the silver fox farming industry will have increased to a very great extent.

We understand the two farms mentioned are the Vimy and Union Vale ranches, formerly the property of Messrs. McLure and MacKinnon, of Charlottetown, P. E. Island.—Black Fox Magazine

SHIPPING LIVE FOXES

Live foxes are being shipped from one end of Canada to the other, also to California, Europe and even to Japan. Special shipping rates are constructed, containing two compartments, provided with drinking cups, one fox to a compartment. A fox, when in transit, eats very little. A few biscuits are generally sent along, so that the Express messengers may feed the animal on way, when shipment is not accompanied by a caretaker.

Norway, Sweden, Japan, England and Scotland all have started fox farms of their own.

Fur Industry Shows Great Progress

The growth of the fur industry in British Columbia is clearly stressed in statistics which have been recently issued. There are 294 fur-bearing ranches in this Province, yet large as that figure seems, it is only a third of the number in Prince Edward Island, with its comparatively small acreage. Of the fifty-two ranches on Vancouver Island representing all classes of fur animals, twenty-one are those of registered stock under the Canadian act.

Description Given of Modern Farm Where Animals are Kept in Separate Pens

A plan of a modern fox farm is of general interest. Usually kept apart, and in places where the curious eye cannot behold the animals, or the thoughtless excite them in the season of the year when the litters are born, the modern farm in the districts where there are people and traffic is surrounded by a high board fence. Within this fence, which often surrounds a piece of ground of several acres in area, are the wire-covered pens, running in rows around the fence and up and down the yard. There are board walks running about them. Each pen, as has been described, houses a pair of breeding foxes. The young are sometimes left with them until old enough to breed themselves. Those which are suckled by the old lady-cats are reared, after they grow away from their mother and are weaned, together. They are just as strong and healthy as their cousins in the other pens, and just as beautiful, with a sprinkling of silver in their glossy black coats. They are less vicious, too. With those who know them they are even friendly, sometimes allowing the attendants to pat and caress them.

The majority of the foxes are unfriendly, however. They do not tolerate strangers. Even the caretakers, when they are trying to fill the water dishes in the pens, have to bat at the little animals to keep them from rushing at the doorway and making their escape, and they sometimes have to bat them rather hard.

Last season the silver fox breeders of Great Britain staged a very creditable fox show in London, and we learned that at the meeting of the Silver Fox Breeders' Association in July last, it was voted that another show be held this season at the Crystal Palace in London about the middle of November, and an effort will be made to hold this show in connection with the big annual show of the British Fur Rabbit Society.—Black Fox Magazine

SILVER FOX FARMS EXPAND

INDUSTRY STARTED IN CANADA ABOUT 1890 AND HAS SPREAD OVER CANADA

Revenue Received From Business Estimated at $3,500,000 Annually

Silver fox farming started in Canada about 1890. About 1898 it began to develop into a profitable business.

Fur farms are now found in all the Provinces of the Dominion. Wonderful opportunities await the fur farmer in Canada, as the room for expansion and development is so tremendous in this newest branch of the Canadian livestock industry.

It is conservatively estimated that the revenue received from fur farming in Canada is $3,500,000 annually, of which over $3,000,000 is derived from silver black foxes.

Only one lady in every one hundred thousand owns a silver fox fur today. Who is going to supply the other 99,999?

Silver foxes can be raised by anyone who is accustomed to the care and management of other live animals.

Foxes are raised in ranches of specially constructed wire pens.

Foxes breed once a year. They are generally mated in pairs, one male and one female, and the mating period is during the months of January, February, March and April.

The period of gestation is about fifty-two days. The litters usually run from one to eight pups. The average number of pups raised to maturity is 100 per cent production.

The average breeding life of a fox is about eight years.

The average cost of feed and care for a pair of foxes and their pups for a year is approximately $100.

Foxes are omnivorous animals. The following, however, generally constitute the diet. Meat, milk, eggs, bread, biscuit, other cereals, and fish.

The usual breeding pen comprises an area of approximately twenty by thirty feet square. The average cost of construction complete is about $100 per pen. Fur ranches may be built either in the open or in the woods.

Foxes are usually in the prime condition of fur during the months of November, December, and January, and are pelted during those months.

The pelts are usually sold through auction fur sales houses in Montreal and Winnipeg, Canada; London, England; New York and St. Louis, U.S.A.; or through large wholesale furriers.

There is always a keen demand for good, well-furred, clear colored skins at very attractive prices.

BEST OF PELTS PRODUCED HERE

FOX FUR RECENTLY EXHIBITED IN VICTORIA WORN BY A CHAMPION

Death by Poison Robs Industry of One of Its Greatest Males

What can be done in the production of fur of the finest quality within a few miles of Victoria could be seen recently in the window of Mr. T. Wherry, 629 Pandora Ave., between Broad Street and the City Hall. There on view was the pelt of a silver black fox which, in Mr. Wherry's own words, was "a very fine skin, the finest fox that I ever handled," and that is saying a good deal for a man with a life-long experience as a practical taxidermist and tanner.

This fox won the first prize blue ribbon at the Victoria Fox Show last November in the class for medium silvers under an old Prince Edward Island fox breeder, Mr. Malcolm McKinnon, who was at one time Minister of Agriculture for that Government, and who commented upon the very high quality of all the foxes exhibited at the first fox show in the Capital City of British Columbia.

Competing at the International Fox and Fur Show in Vancouver this fox won the reserve in the championship class for the best male owned in British Columbia under Dr. W. G. Church, Chief Fox Inspector for the Dominion Government, being there classified as a pale silver.

It is seldom that the pelt of so valuable an animal finds its way upon the public market, and this specimen would not be where it was had not this fine fox met his death by poison on Galiano Island. This animal is of the famous Magic Strain of Prince Edward Island.

The new service will be instituted in December on a bi-monthly basis, and will be increased in accordance with cargo offerings.

The ships will load seven-eighths of their cargo in Seattle and other their shipments in San Francisco, steaming for India and the Straits Settlements. The vessels will return via Honolulu and San Francisco. Seattle had a direct service to India and the Straits Settlements shortly after the war, but it was discontinued. Cargo for that

Now the Kerr Lines for which the General Steamship Corporation has Pacific service, will be the first regular direct sailings to India and the Straits Settlements. It is understood the ships in the line will be of the type in use with the vessels in the Java service of the Kerr Lines. The first ship of the Kerr Lines will be loading in Singapore on the 15th inst. and will arrive at Pier 14. Delivery of cargo in India and the Straits Settlements will be made in less than forty days.

AS DESCRIBED

Drew Chidister, president of the General Steamship Corporation, in describing the new service, said: "After loading in Seattle and San Francisco, the ships will proceed to Singapore, Madras, Ceylon, and returning via Belawan and Honolulu. Now we are pleased to announce a third step, involving the extension of the Kerr Lines to Seattle through inauguration of this new line."

CALGARY, Oct. 24.—After an extensive survey an eighty-acre plot of land located in the industrial Calgary subdivision, directly east of Manchester, has been chosen as suitable for a civil airplane base in Calgary.

The site has been looked over by D. R. Critchton, superintendent of the city land department, and Capt. Fred McCall, D.S.O., D.F.C., M.C., and on the return of Mayor Fred E. Osborne it is probable that a recommendation will be sent to the Council to have this site set aside

RABBI ELECTED BY TEMPLE HERE

Mr. Jack Levy, of England, Appointed to Temple E-Manu-El, Belongs to Line of Ordained Teachers

OLDEST SYNAGOGUE HAS YOUNG PASTOR

After being four years without a permanent pastor, Temple E-Manu-El, the Jewish synagogue here, has appointed Mr. Jack Levy, recently arrived from London, England, as rabbi.

Trouble Signs For Those Past 40

Bladder Weakness, Nervousness, Headaches, Frequent, Painful, Urination, Getting Up at Night

The embarrassing annoyance and genuine misery of Bladder Weakness, often termed "dysuria of old age" to those who really ought to be in the very prime of life.

Countless thousands, perhaps seven out of ten, of folk near middle life are afflicted with this distressing condition, which is often accompanied by nervousness, pain in back and down through groin, frequent but scanty and painful urination, (getting-up-at-night).

While serious if neglected it is ordinarily a simple matter to relieve these troubles by the efficient home use of Dr. Douglas' UROTAB, which has been victorious in thousands of cases, after other treatments have failed.

No matter how serious or of how long standing your condition may be, you can quickly prove the value of UROTAB without risk of cost—for any good druggist will supply you on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or money back. If UROTAB brings you quick and certain comfort, you will be greatly pleased. If they do not fully satisfy, their use will cost you nothing. Try UROTAB today, and see what a difference they make. (ADVE.)

Rabbi Levy, who is in his early twenties, claims to be the youngest rabbi on the American Continent, the nearest parallel being Rabbi Wohlgemuth, of Vancouver, who is one year his senior. It is rather a curious coincidence that he has come to the oldest synagogue in Canada, Temple E-Manu-El being seventy-five years old this year.

Born in London, England, he was educated at London University, from which he graduated in 1921 with his arts degree. Since then he has held various offices under the auspices of the chief rabbi of the British Empire, Dr. Hertz.

Belonging to a family which has lived for many years in England, he has several rabbis, two of them having held important positions in England for many years. His maternal grandfather also held a rabbinical position under the United Synagogue of England. He is not, however, the first member of the family to come to Canada, an uncle who was an ordained rabbi, having lived for many years at Alameda, Saskatchewan, where he also holds the office of magistrate.

Although services have been held at the local synagogue every Friday evening for the past four years, these have been in charge of a layman. Ordained ministers have come here during the time only during times of Jewish festivals.

Rabbi Levy is the first permanent pastor, his nearest predecessor being Rabbi Friedman, whose scholarship and benevolence made him many friends among the Gentile section of the community also.

Belonging to the orthodox community of Jews, Rabbi Levy's policy will be along entirely traditional lines, placing emphasis on education among the younger generation. A member of the English Amateur Press Club, he is a contributor to several English journals.

on subjects of Jewish history and literature, and he is so interested in this particular subject that on Saturday evening next he will hold the first of a regular series of meetings for the discussion of literature and literary topics.

CLAIM OF INDIANS DISMISSED BY COURT

ALBANY, N.Y., Oct. 25.—St. Regis Indians have no claim to vast tracts of land in Northern and Central New York State and valued at more than $2,000,000, the United States district court of Northern New York decided when it rejected a suit filed by the Indians. The suit was an attempt to recover lands which the Indians claim as ancestral properties, acquired by century-old treaties. The city of Syracuse is included in the tract. The Indians, as wards of the Federal Government, hold no right to sue in Federal Court.

Laurier Theatre Men Get Verdict of Guilty

MONTREAL, Oct. 26.—After deliberating less than half an hour today, a jury in King's Bench found Amen Lawland, Camille Bazile and Michael Ariel guilty of manslaughter for their responsibility in the Laurier Palace Theatre fire on January 9, when seventy-eight children lost their lives.

Lawland is the proprietor of the theatre and Bazile and Ariel were employed there. They will be sentenced at the end of the term.

Canadian Pacific Announces Changes

H.J. HUMPHREY W.M. NEAL A. HALKETT

THREE appointments of general interest which affect both Eastern and Western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway were announced recently from the company's headquarters in Montreal.

Mr. W. M. Neal, who for the past three and a half years has been assistant to Vice-President Grant Hall, with headquarters in Montreal, has been appointed general manager of Western lines, succeeding Mr. Charles Murphy, whose retirement was announced recently owing to ill-health.

Although still a comparatively young man, Mr. Neal is regarded as one of the most capable and prominent in the service of the Canadian Pacific. His rise in the service during his twenty-five years of employment with the company has been a succession of rapid promotions owing to his capacity for hard work and intimate grasp of railway work.

He entered the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway in January, 1902, as clerk in the superintendent's office in Toronto. In March of the same year he was transferred to the office of the general superintendent at Winnipeg. In 1904 Mr. Neal occupied a number of clerical positions at various points principally on Western lines. His first appointment to a Montreal office came in 1916 when he was made assistant superintendent.

Following his transference as clerk in the office of the superintendent at Winnipeg in 1904, Mr. Neal occupied a number of clerical positions at various points principally on Western lines. His first appointment to a Montreal office came in 1916 when he was made assistant superintendent.

Mr. Neal was born in Toronto in 1886, and was educated at the public and Wellesley High Schools there. He was married in 1910 to Miss Frances J. Scott, of Renfrew.

The position of assistant to the vice-president vacated by Mr. Neal is filled by the appointment of Mr. H. J. Humphrey, who until now has been general superintendent of the Algoma division with headquarters at Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. Humphrey is an outstanding executive who has come forward rapidly. He also joined the company in 1902, at Calgary, as a telegraph operator. He was later appointed chief dispatcher at Medicine Hat.

later being placed in charge of fuel supply and car distribution in Saskatchewan with headquarters at Moose Jaw.

In 1915 he was appointed superintendent of car service at Winnipeg, later being transferred to Montreal in the same capacity. He became superintendent at Farnham, Quebec, in 1917, and after spending some time on the Brownville, N.B., and Laurentian divisions, was appointed superintendent of the Trenton division and later assistant general superintendent at Toronto. In March, 1924, he was appointed general superintendent of the Algoma district there, succeeding Mr. Neal, whom he again succeeds in Montreal.

Mr. Humphrey is an outstanding railroad man despite his comparatively young age and has been extremely popular wherever he has been stationed.

Mr. Humphrey is to be succeeded at North Bay by Mr. Andrew Halkett, now superintendent at Moose Jaw, Sask. Mr. Halkett was born in Ontario and went to Western Canada in 1907 in order to enter railroading. He started as a brakeman at Vancouver in 1907, and after filling various appointments on Western lines, he became superintendent at Moose Jaw in 1915. Since that date he has held various appointments. He has spent some time in Montreal during the past two years on special work in connection with labor regulations.

Eight Ex-Servicemen Unites to Compose Armistice Period Committee

Representatives of the Armistice Period Committee who are taking orders for poppies and wreaths, find that quite a number of citizens are not aware of the fact that there are eight different ex-service organizations in Greater Victoria.

Of these eight organizations five are branches of one Dominion-wide organization, the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League.

The Armistice Period Committee is the only central committee of ex-service men in Victoria composed of representatives from all these eight bodies and working for the benefit of all ex-service men in the district. Irrespective of what organization they belong to or whether they belong to any.

The Armistice Period Committee wishes to impress upon the public that it is only at this time of the year, the Armistice period, that the committee raises funds, which are dispensed throughout the year, in supplying emergency relief to needy ex-service men and their dependents. Demands on these funds are increasing, and the committee is making a special effort to increase the sale of poppies about thirty per cent in order that they may maintain the same proportionate relief as in the past.

Chicago Grain

(Quoted by B.C. Bond Corp., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The bulk of foreign news which has been more or less obscured by the cloud of bearish sentiment in wheat, has finally succeeded in breaking through today and, aided by a stronger Liverpool market and better export business, brought about advances in prices, the greater part of which was held. Our market for the first time in several days broke away from the depressing action of Winnipeg and turned to other matters.

There was a large amount of short covering and investment buying by locals here, while commission houses absorbed the offerings as they came on the market, prices working upward most of the day, with reaction only temporary. Sellers were much less aggressive. While sentiment appears to have changed materially, we are not disposed to say that the market has turned definitely, but think the advantage for moderate turns at present, lies with the buyer on breaks.

Corn was not as active as wheat, but the tone was firm and the greater part of the advance was held. There was further talk of export business via the Gulf, with seaboard reporting bids at about cost.

FINELY RALLY FEATURES DAY

LONG LIST OF ISSUES MOVES UPWARD, LED BY HIGH-PRICED STOCKS

Time Money Rates Soften—Market for Listed Bonds Continues Slow—Marking Time

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A brisk rally in stocks today held the principal attention of the speculative markets, although an advance of about $5 a bale in cotton, following an unexpectedly bullish ginning report by the United States Census Bureau, was a point of considerable interest.

A long list of issues on the stock exchange moved rapidly upward from the start under the leadership of several of the popular speculative favorites.

Action of U. S. Steel and General Motors was presumably in anticipation of the earnings statements of the two companies, which were not made public until after the close.

Steel common and preferred sold up, rapidly on the latter, to a new high record at 136 1/2.

Among the specialties, farm implements were in demand. International Harvester scored a gain of 1 1/2 points. Radio added 3 1/2 points to its previous high when it sold at 55 7/8. Demand sterling ruled lower around $4.86 1/2 and French francs closed at 3.25 1/4.

Time money rates displayed a softening tendency in most divisions. Considerable irregularity was apparent in the bond market today when many traders, adverse to paying current high prices, adopted a waiting attitude. There was a more or less general disposition to mark time pending the definite announcement of the government's financing plans next month. The rush of new bonds already on the market or impending was a factor in again slowing up the trade in listed mortgages.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

REDUCING STOMACH ACIDITY
Have you ever said, "You know, if I miss a meal I have such a gnawing feeling?" Have you always supposed that this feeling was because you were hungry? Well, disabuse your mind of that false notion just as soon as you can. You have gastritis, which simply means stomach irritation. That feeling you think is hunger is produced by inflamed stomach walls irritated by an excess of gastric juice or rubbing against each other.

Hunger is never felt in a particular place, but is an almost forgotten craving of the whole body for food. You have likely not had this normal feeling of hunger since you were a few days old. Since that time you have probably always been about three or four weeks ahead with your food supply, and what you have thought to be hunger has been only gastritis or possibly a false "appetite." A healthy stomach organ never makes its presence felt, and you should never know you have one unless you have studied physiology. However, most of you are unconsciously conscious of this organ if you miss a meal. This is because you have developed too much acid because of wrong eating. Digestion is carried on mostly by the chemical action of the digestive juice. In the stomach the gastric juice, composed of pepsin, rennin and hydrochloric acid, literally eats up the food by chemical action. If too much food is used or if bad mixtures are used, the only way the stomach can get rid of this excess mixture is by producing more gastric juice and thus liquefying its contents to make it ready for assimilation or expulsion. Thus the bad habit is formed of making more gastric juice than would be necessary if judicious amounts of food were used in proper combinations.

Consequently, when a meal is missed, this digestive juice, strongly acid, is by force of habit thrown out into the stomach, and having no food to act upon, attacks the delicate mucous lining of the stomach organ itself and sets up an irritation which will only be relieved if food is used, or the acid diluted by drinking large quantities of water. A simple remedy which will give instant relief is to take a teaspoon of soda in a glass or two of water to counteract the acid. Many avert more serious stomach ulcers for years by always having soda on hand to take as soon as the gnawing begins. But if one wishes to cure this gastric "ill," it is not as simple to do as to relieve the symptoms. Strict dietetic rules must be observed for a long time if the stomach is to be trained to continue making an excess amount of hydrochloric acid. The quickest way to get results is to fast for a few days from all food and keep the stomach full of plain water, drinking a glass of water every half hour during the day, and additional water if awakening at night. After this, live on two small meals daily, omitting lunch altogether, and using a quart or two of water through the middle of the day. After a few weeks of this regime you will find that when a meal is missed you will have no more gnawing. You will know by this test that the gastric juice is normal in amount and the membrane of the stomach has been restored to its proper tone. Learn to live with such good dietetic habits that you are never again conscious of having a stomach.

Large Pimples Lasted A Year Cuticura Heals

"My face and neck were covered with pimples. They were red, hard and large and caused me much trouble. For a while the itching and burning were so severe that I could not help scratching, and my face was disfigured. I lost my sleep for about a month on account of the irritation. The trouble lasted one year."

"I used other remedies but they failed to help me. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using it I perceived one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Ointment and in a month and a half I was healed." (Signed) Miss Emily Dell, Riverport, Mass.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap, with touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soothe and heal. Cuticura Talcum is fragrant and refreshing, an ideal toilet powder.

MONS RETREAT IS THEME OF LECTURE

Colonel W. W. Foster Describes Famous Military Operation in Courtney Address

COURTENAY, Oct. 25.—Under the auspices of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, Col. W. W. Foster, lecturer in the Gaity Theatre on the "Retreat from Mons." The mayor, Mr. J. McKenney, introduced the lecturer to the audience.

In starting Col. Foster said a few words about the Canadian Legion, of which he is the British Columbia provincial president, pointing out that in France every man was united in fighting the enemy, and that the Legion was the outcome of many organizations formed to foster this same spirit in civil life.

He then outlined the state of mind of the German general staff, immediately preceding the war, which led them to attack France through Belgium.

Following this, with the aid of a map, he gave the history of the two British Army Corps under Generals Haig and Smith-Dorrien, from the time they took up their position around Mons to when their famous retreat ended on the Marne. The military dispositions, the want of ammunition and food, the overwhelming numbers of the enemy, and the difficulties the British had to face, were told without waste of words, clearly and distinctly. Here and there these difficulties were illustrated by stories of the heroism displayed by the British troops.

After the lecture, at a supper served ably by Mr. Percy Sadler, Col. Foster was enabled to meet many of the ex-service men of the district and their wives.

Out of the six of the Mons veterans living in the Courtney area, four were present, namely: Messrs. Ter- riss, Pringle, Porritt and H. L. El- lison.

The financial statement for the past season showed the club to have had a very satisfactory year. Finances were in good shape and, with the growth of membership the outlook for the future was very promising. Membership now comprised close to 200 members, of whom 125 were active members, the remainder being junior and non-playing members.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Hon. presidents, C. H. Dickie, M.P. and C. F. Davis, M.P.P.; president, R. H. Punnett; hon. vice-presidents, E. M. Dawson-Thomas and Dr. C. E. George; secretary-treasurer, F. G. Hoey; committee, Messrs. J. J. Norie, H. W. Brien, Mrs. F. R. Gooding, Miss W. Dawson-Thomas and Miss K. Robertson.

The meeting accorded a hearty vote of thanks to the past season's executive and to the tea committee. The need of new additional courts was discussed, and arrangements for this work was left in the hands of the committee.

SOOKE RESIDENTS URGE MAKING OF BIRD SANCTUARY

A delegation of residents of Sooke, East Sooke and Saseen came to the city yesterday morning to call upon Mr. B. Jackson, chairman of the Game Conservation Board, to urge the establishment of a bird sanctuary in Sooke Harbor. The wholesale slaughter of the ducks, which is claimed to have taken place in the water, and the danger to the waterfowl and the dangerous carelessness of hunters are alleged reasons prompting the urge for protection measures. The members of the delegation were Rev. S. Lundie, Capt. Robertson and Messrs. J. A. Murray, A. Campbell, H. Hewitt, and A. Kohout. Mr. Jackson having been called to Vancouver, could not see the delegation and a meeting at Sooke is being arranged.

TO BID FAREWELL TO CHOIRMASTER

Members and adherents of First United Church, as well as the numerous church singers who, from time to time, have taken part in the oratorios prepared round the nucleus of the First United Church, tonight bid adieu to Mr. Jackson Hanby, choirmaster and director of music at this church for the past twelve years. The occasion will be seized also to welcome Mr. Hanby's successor, Mr. Pyfe, late of Saskatoon, who began his duties about a month ago, and to welcome Rev. J. C. G. Bompas, assistant minister, successor of Rev. J. C. Goodfellow, and Mrs. Bompas, who have returned to Canada after some years in the China mission field. It is a coincidence that the date also marks the sixth anniversary of the coming of the First United Church of Rev. Dr. Wilson, the present pastor.

FARMERS DECIDE ON NEW BUILDING

East Sooke Institute Will Erect Hall—Garden Competition Results Announced

EAST SOOKE, Oct. 25.—The monthly meeting of the East Sooke Farmers' Institute was held at Ragley on Monday evening with twenty-one present. The chief subject of discussion was the building of the hall. It was decided to erect a single-story building with an additional room for kitchen at present, and to add to it as funds permit. The size was tentatively fixed at 30 x 50 feet, according to the cost of lumber. It is expected that a good deal of labor will be given voluntarily, which will save much expense. Tenders will be invited after the cost of lumber has been ascertained and a plan drawn.

Notice was given of the concert which is to be kindly provided by the Columbia School of Music at Colwood Hall on Friday, November 11, at 8:30 p.m., followed by a dance. An orchestra will supply the music.

The question of a feed order was discussed and different prices compared. Owing to these still being high, no steps to place an order will be taken at present.

The secretary and Messrs. F. Reid and P. Thornell were elected as delegates to the district meeting of Farmers' Institutes to be held on November 29, with Mr. Cartwright as alternative.

The three inspectors of the children's garden competition handed in their reports and the results were announced as follows:

Class 1, for gardens 12 x 12—Tommy Parker, first; Olive Ball, second. Class 2, for gardens 9 x 9—Walter Parker, first; Walter and Katie Thornell, tied, second. Class 3, for gardens 5 x 5—Mildred Ball, first; John Lukey, second.

Witnesses Will Give Account of Accident—Funeral Will Be Held This Afternoon

An inquest will be held at the Sands Funeral Parlor at 10 o'clock this morning into the death of Mr. Frank Goodwin, of Vancouver, who was killed in an automobile accident on Monday.

Mr. David Seaton, of Vancouver, who was in the car with Mr. Goodwin at the time of the accident, and who escaped with minor injuries, also will be a witness at the inquest. The funeral of Mr. Goodwin will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Parlor. Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick will conduct the service. Mr. Goodwin is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George James Goodwin, of Vancouver, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ross, of Goldstream.

gross imposition. It is questionable whether compulsory insurance will have the desired effect, and it is not quite understood, in the case of an accident where the pedestrian is at fault, why a car owner should be compelled to carry insurance to cover the other's injuries.

There is no doubt that something will have to be done to curb the activities of reckless drivers, but it must be borne in mind that the motorist is not always at fault. One of the biggest menaces we have today in Victoria is the habit of pedestrians suddenly emerging from between parked cars. In a case like this, very often, the pedestrian is to blame, and I fail to see why the motorist should be soaked with insurance to cover any injury the other may receive.

Compulsory automobile insurance, as your correspondent, Mr. Stokes, pointed out, will have the effect of driving a lot of cars off the road. It will especially affect the wage earner with his modest little "Lizzie," and having in mind the existence of an already exorbitant tax for licences, this would hardly seem to be fair.

We have a law to deal with delinquents under the Motor Act; why not enforce it? If it is found necessary to pass a law (and God knows we have a multitude of them already) to bring in compulsory insurance, then it is an admission on the part of our law makers that they cannot enforce the law. The trouble is our courts deal too leniently with offenders and it is hardly to be expected that the reckless ones will have any respect for the law when violators charged with manslaughter earn the support of a lenient public medium of petitions or through political influence.

The whole scheme savors somewhat of insurance companies' influence and it certainly would be a nice big fat juicy plum for them to suck at.

BEACH HOTEL, OAK BAY
Sir,—I have read with interest the letter of the Reeve in today's issue. There is one point where he is in error. The Council had the power to refuse the hotel permit. I was at a meeting of the Council when the minutes of the previous meeting were read, wherein it was stated that I have found that which each soul seeks and finds in some form or creed, may I ask a question of those who base their prophecies on the Pyramids. Does it seem logical to try and prove Bible prophecy fulfilled by measuring a pile of stones left behind by a people who had never heard of Jehovah or Christ? Egypt was a child of the sun, her people worshipped through the elements of Osiris and Isis. Does it not seem more logical to conclude that, if any message is contained therein that it contains a message relating to them alone? Astronomy and geometry they were indeed masters of. Why not measure up the Pyramids in Mexico and multiply or subtract until the results fit in with Bible prophecy? That its builders knew nothing of Moses or the master Christ need not be considered so long as the numbers can be made to match.

passed, and this was refused. The fact is the Council was obsessed with the belief a hotel would be to Oak Bay and pushed it through.

While I do not agree with them on the hotel matter I think the ratepayers would find it difficult to get another Council who would look after the municipal affairs any better than the present members, who have given their time for the benefit of the municipality.

PYRAMIDAL PROPHECY
Sir,—As a student of Egypt's sacred lore, and in whose religion I have found that which each soul seeks and finds in some form or creed, may I ask a question of those who base their prophecies on the Pyramids. Does it seem logical to
